

Coyne Affair Just One of Major Moves at Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP) — Much of what lies ahead in Canadian politics will be dated from the hectic parliamentary events of Wednesday, June 14.

Here was the Commons spending almost an entire sitting day on political acrimony surrounding the government's plan to force by legislation the resignation of James E. Coyne, governor of the Bank of Canada.

Here, too, was Finance Minister Fleming's clear indication that the government is turning to expansionist economic policies—which he said is at the root of the rift between the Conservative administration and the bank's "restrictionist" governor—in a budget to be presented next Tuesday night.

Into this eventful skirmish, unannounced, came a Senate manpower committee report urging an overhaul of the Bank of Canada and closer integration of its policies with those of the finance department.

Meanwhile, the Liberal majority in the Senate carried out its threat and on a 37-to-21 vote deleted a key point in the government's "class or kind" tariff bill—arbitrary ministerial power to make certain decisions not subject to appeal.

There were indications in the Senate of possible non-partisan attempts to amend another major government bill—the one defining two types of murder and decreasing the death penalty for only premeditated slayings or those associated with crimes of violence.

In the Commons, there was another major announcement—one by Justice Minister Fulton that public hearings will be held into distribution and sales of pharmaceutical drugs and auto supplies.

The Senate's vote on the tariff bill amendment was followed by final approval of the amended bill. This action automatically sends the bill back to the Commons where the original version was previously passed by the huge Progressive Conservative majority.

The government measure was designed to provide stronger tariff protection for certain Canadian-manufactured goods, mainly machinery, where present law provides two tariff rates—a high duty for goods "of a class or kind made in Canada" and a low rate for others.

The government can either accept the Senate amendment—a move informed sources say is unlikely—or rip it out and send the original bill back to the Senate.

Should the Senate stick to its own version, the only way of settling such a dispute is through a so-called "free committee" with three members delegated by each house to negotiate a compromise. If that doesn't work, the bill could be washed out.

Tax Penalty On Ads Urged

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's royal commission on publications recommended today that domestic advertising placed in foreign magazines be stripped of its status as a legitimate business expense—in effect doubling the cost to the advertiser.

In a report tabled in the Commons by Prime Minister Diefenbaker, the three-man commission called as well for action under custom tariff law to bar from Canada all periodicals printed outside the country that contain Canadian domestic advertising.

The commission described the recommended steps as the most direct and effective methods of ending diversion of Canadian domestic advertising to U.S.-owned publications—and noted forcefully that survival of the handful of Canadian consumer magazines depends on advertising lifeblood.

Chairman M. Grattan O'Leary and fellow commissioners George Johnston and Claude P. Beaubien said in their 25,000-word report "it must be clearly understood" that they were recommending nothing which in any way might obstruct entry to Canada of foreign periodicals not carrying Canadian advertising directed primarily at the Canadian market.

The proposal that tax deductions be disallowed on Canadian advertising placed in foreign publications is aimed primarily at the Canadian editions of Time and Reader's Digest—a combination that has been picking up some 40 per cent of all magazine advertising in Canada.

In tabling the report Mr. Diefenbaker told the Commons the government is giving it careful consideration in the light of the government's objective "to foster a sound and strong Canadianism." He praised the commission members for working with commendatory zeal.

"The result of non-deductibility would be approximately to double the cost of domestic advertising in a foreign periodical wherever printed," the report said.

The proposal to close Canadian borders to foreign magazines carrying domestic Canadian advertising is aimed at halting the growing practice by which American magazines allow the substitution of ads aimed at Canadian readers for part of their press run.

The commission's sole aim is to prevent the placement of Canadian domestic advertising in foreign periodicals available in Canada and to discourage the use of second-hand editorial material as an enticement for advertising," the report said.

"These practices must be stopped; stopped effectively and permanently. Involved is the question of whether or not

MAIN POINTS

Removal of deduction from income tax of expenditures incurred for advertising directed at the Canadian market in a foreign periodical, wherever printed—in effect doubling the cost of advertising.

Ban on entry into Canada of a periodical containing Canadian domestic advertising.

Strict enforcement of Canadian legislation against illegal or fraudulent claims contained in "overflow" advertising in foreign periodicals.

Repeal of a tariff item which facilitates entry into Canada of periodical promotional material printed abroad.

Use of business reply cards and envelopes by foreign periodicals only when accompanying promotional material is prepared and mailed in Canada.

No action which might in any way obstruct entry into Canada of foreign periodicals not carrying Canadian advertising aimed directly at the Canadian market.

Compensation from the U.S. to offset Canadian post office losses in carrying periodicals from that country as second-class mail.

Prohibition under the Combines Act of combined advertising rates offered by a Canadian publisher in English and French editions of a periodical.

Requirement that publishers label clearly as "advertisement" any paid editorial or reading matter in periodicals entered as second-class mail.

Canadian Publishers Hail Report

OTTAWA (UPI) — Canada's magazine industry today welcomed the O'Leary royal commission report as an "excellent" document whose recommendations should permit expansion of this country's periodical press.

"This report should create a climate in which new Canadian magazines can be started," Maclean-Hunter Publishing Company president Floyd S. Chalmers told newsmen. "It's an excellent report."

"The commission has done a wonderful job," added C. J. Laurin, president of the Canadian Periodical Press Association. "I'd say the chances of the government implementing these recommendations are excellent."

No Fiscal Policy Laid Down

OTTAWA (CP) — Governor James E. Coyne of the Bank of Canada said today, in effect, that the government—not himself—has been restricting economic growth in Canada by lack of adequate policies.

Mr. Coyne, in a statement replying to the Finance Minister Fleming's Commons criticisms of him Wednesday, said Canada's economic troubles have not been in the field of monetary policy—the Bank of Canada's field.

"What has been lacking so far is adequate action in the field of fiscal policy to make a real contribution to economic recovery and the growth of the Canadian economy under Canadian ownership and control."

"In this respect Mr. Fleming revealed Wednesday the government now has been suddenly converted."

Meanwhile, Mr. Fleming rejected today an Opposition request that the government legislate to dismiss Mr. Coyne be introduced before Tuesday night's budget.

BID BY PEARSON

Opposition Leader Pearson made the request in the Commons, referring to Mr. Fleming's statement Wednesday that legislative action would be taken in view of Mr. Coyne's refusal to resign.

Mr. Fleming said he sees no reason why the legislation should precede the budget. He said the Opposition had been "screaming" for the budget to be brought down. Now it wanted a step that could have the effect of postponing the budget.

Mr. Pearson said the reply was "both irrelevant and offensive."

"It was not meant to be irrelevant," Mr. Fleming said pointedly.

Mr. Coyne issued his statement today in the form of a comment on Wednesday's report by the Senate committee on manpower.

But most of the statement was a strongly worded reply to Mr. Fleming, who accused Mr. Coyne of "restrictionist" policies and said the 50-year

NIKITA REPORTS

Europe Peace Essential Now

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev said tonight that "a peace settlement in Europe must be accomplished this year."

'Negotiate Now or Face Blockade'

BERLIN (UPI) — East German chief of state Walter Ulbricht warned the Western allies today to negotiate with his government on use of the routes to Berlin or face "interruptions."

He told a news conference once a peace treaty is signed, East Germany will get "complete control of all land, water and air traffic" running through the Soviet zone to Berlin.

He said the United States, Britain and France would have to sign agreements with East Germany to supply their garri- sons in West Berlin and use the vital air routes.

BEGIN NOW

"Negotiations on use of the routes should begin immediately," he said. "The sooner they start the sooner agreement will be reached and there will be no interruptions of traffic. Those who do not want interruptions should be for negotiations."

"We do not want to interrupt air traffic," he said.

"All we want is a new agreement on the air traffic. Those who oppose an agreement will be the disturbers of air traffic."

He hinted that when a peace treaty is signed the Soviets will leave the four-power Berlin air safety centre and air traffic will be endangered.

Ulbricht demanded that West Berlin be made a free city as the Soviets propose.

The Soviet premier made the statement in reaffirming his position on Germany and Berlin.

He spoke to the Soviet people over radio and television, reporting on his Vienna talks with President Kennedy.

MEETING WORTHWHILE

Khrushchev has called for a peace conference of all the Second World War allies on reunifying Germany. In the meantime, he wants West Germany and Communist East Germany to negotiate a settlement, if they can, within six months. This would also include the future of Communist-surrounded West Berlin.

Khrushchev said his meeting with President Kennedy in Vienna was worthwhile.

"In addition, it had to be held."

He repeated his demand for combining negotiations on a nuclear test ban with talks on general disarmament.

Khrushchev said the Vienna meeting "provided a good opportunity for a first personal contact and an exchange of opinion."

Home Scorns Troika Plan

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI) — British Foreign Secretary Lord Home today called Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's troika scheme for dividing control of world organizations "the most sterile and bankrupt doctrine that has ever been advanced."

Addressing the Harvard University Alumni Association, Home said Khrushchev's proposal, if accepted, would mean "the end of the United Nations as we know it today."

NO DECISION

New Offer By Castro On Tractors

(Times News Services)

HAVANA — Four American farm experts left for Miami today with Premier Fidel Castro's new proposal for exchanging 1,173 captured Cuban invaders for some $28,000,000 worth of tractors.

Castro's new approach to the tractors-for-prisoners deal could bring him as many as 10,000 light farm tractors.

MADE NO COMMITMENTS

The American group made no commitments and intended to lay the request before the tractors-for-freedom committee headed by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Castro placed increasing emphasis on his alternate plan to exchange captive invaders for "political prisoners" of the United States, Spain, Guatemala and Nicaragua.

Meanwhile Kennedy administration officials were said in Washington today to believe the tractors-for-prisoners exchange—whether it succeeds or fails—may save the lives of 1,200 Cuban expatriates captured in the April invasion.

Nobody in Washington feels safe in predicting what action Prime Minister Fidel Castro will take next. But high government officials said today the belief here is that Castro cannot afford now to wheel out his firing squads.

TV Networks Urge Violence, Sex on Shows

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Hollywood producer testified today that officials of two television networks instructed him to spice up his shows with more violence and sex.

The producer, Ivan Tors of Ziv United Artists, read to senate investigators a letter in which the National Broadcasting System expressed "concern over the absence of sex" in seven TV productions he had sold the network.

He also told the senate juvenile delinquency subcommittee that officials of the Columbia Broadcasting Co. let it be known that injections of "youth and crime" might improve the ratings of "The Aquanauts," which Tors described as a wholesome hour-long program of underwater feats.

LOST INTEREST

Tors said he lost interest in "The Aquanauts" because CBS had reversed its "good intentions." The program's name later was changed to "Malibu Run" under a new producer.

After this incident, Tors testified, he insisted on a clause in his contract permitting him to pull out of productions that "adversely influence youth."

Tors also told of a run-in with NBC over the content of "Man and the Challenge," a program relating how a doctor prepares people for survival in situations such as space flight.

After turning out six episodes, Tors testified, an advertising agency executive told him the "price" of obtaining prime network viewing time was "a great deal of sex and violence in the show."

BOY BADLY INJURED BY HOME-MADE BOMB

NORTH VANCOUVER (CP)—David Mapleton, 16, suffered severe injuries to his face, hands and stomach Wednesday when a bomb which he had brought home from school exploded as he was handling it at his home. The home-made device, which David said was given him by another student, blew out windows at the family's home.

... MAJOR MOVES

Continued from Page 1. The Senate's manpower committee said more expansive policies, fully co-ordinated between the finance department and the Bank of Canada, are needed to create jobs and capture the full potential of the current business revival.

The special committee of 17 Conservative and 16 Liberal senators began work on Canada's manpower and employment problems last November. Its 114-page report said there has been a general upward drift in unemployment for the last decade, heightened by the ending of the 1955-57 boom operations.

during which labor and productive resources were busier than usual.

"There are indications that the recessionary phase of the current business cycle has come to an end and that the upward movement of business activity has begun," the report said.

"It is essential that this development be facilitated and reinforced by the appropriate monetary and fiscal policies. In particular there is need for a suitable increase in the availability of credit to encourage an expanding scale of business operations."

$1 Million Saanich Project

Construction of a $1,000,000 garden apartment centre in Saanich will start Friday.

Edwin Popham, solicitor for Capital Land Developments, Ltd., promoters of the scheme, said a part of the project is expected to be completed by September.

The apartment centre site is bounded by Tillicum, Trans Canada Highway, Burnside and Interurban Road. It is actually in a triangle.

Canadians shall have their own periodicals."

The royal commission was set up last September with Mr. O'Leary, president of the Ottawa Journal, as chairman.

The commissioners said their recommendations made it imperative that there be a definition of ownership of a magazine, and offered this conclusion:

"That a Canadian periodical is one published in Canada, owned either by Canadian citizens or, if a corporation, by a company incorporated under the laws of Canada or of one of its provinces, and which is controlled and directed by Canadian citizens and is not a licensee of or otherwise substantially the same as a periodical owned or controlled outside Canada."

TRULY CANADIAN

Declaring that only a truly Canadian periodical press can give Canadians "the informed discourse and dialogue which are indispensable in a sovereign society," the commission added recommendations in a number of fields aimed at helping to restore its vigor.

Because of circulation wars that are breaking out with increasing regularity among American publishers, Canadian publishers found themselves "in a battle not of their own choosing in a league they can ill afford."

Also, the report said, a tariff item which facilitates entry into Canada of periodical promotional material should be repealed.

Help was proposed for non-profit cultural and "little" magazines.

There was a call for strict enforcement of existing Canadian legislation against illegal or fraudulent claims contained in "overflow" advertising circulating in Canada from the U.S. or abroad.

The report said the commission is proposing nothing which impinges in any way whatsoever on freedom of the press or reader preference.

The commissioners were not influenced in any way "by a spirit of anti-Americanism or of Canadian ultra-nationalism."

The report said that in working toward elimination of unfair and perhaps ruinous competition the commission has no desire to create a protected haven for Canadian periodicals "and least of all a sanctuary for mediocrity."

WHERE PEOPLE MAKE THE DIFFERENCE

Release by Fall Hoped

JACKSON, Miss. (CP)—A white Canadian "Freedom Rider," who was jailed because he tried to eat at a Negroes-only section in a bus terminal, says that he will abandon his integration efforts for his release from jail.

Meanwhile he is on a hunger strike. He was arrested June 13, 23, of Victoria, B.C., and is now in the Jackson County Jail where 111 freedom riders are serving breach-of-peace sentences.

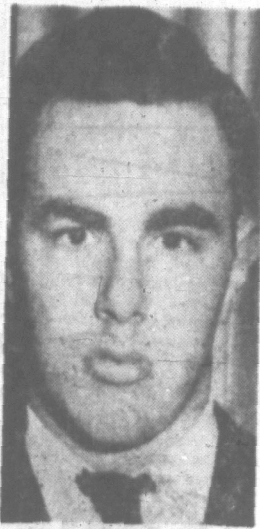

"College is more important at this point than another sentence," he told Associated Press reporter Douglas Starr.

"I hope to be back at the University of British Columbia in the fall," he said.

Most of the other college-student riders, from two dozen colleges in the United States—also are hopeful of being back in school in the fall, he said, although their sentences carry them past fall registration. They believe they will be released before then.

Audain, who went on a hunger strike Monday night, was arrested June 7 when he sought to desegregate the Negro waiting room in the Greyhound bus terminal here.

A judge sentenced him to two months in jail and a $200 fine after finding him guilty to breach of peace for refusing to obey an officer's order to move out of the terminal. So far, he has decided to work off the fine at $3 a day.

MICHAEL AUDAIN
... Happy, healthy, hungry

He explained: "I didn't hope to accomplish anything except to myself. It was my own idea. One has to live with one's self, you know. I wasn't surprised at my arrest, but I wasn't planning on it either."

If people wonder "why a Canadian was in a friendly foreign nation breaking its laws, tell them I regard it that whenever men are denied their rights, it should be the concern of free people everywhere."

Audain decided to join the "Freedom Rider" movement while in San Francisco where he was studying Negro voting habits as part of his college work.

He went to Memphis, Tenn., to see "Jim Crow" practices for himself and then headed for New Orleans.

When the bus stopped in Jackson, he decided freedom meant he could eat in the Negroes-only waiting room. Shortly afterward he was arrested.

Audain said he was happy, healthy and hungry in the jail.

"I have joined the hunger strike as a protest because Attorney-General Kennedy did not take positive action as he promised."

Even Coyne Critics Aghast At Pension Issue in Firing

TORONTO (CP)—Some University of Toronto professors, who signed a letter last December calling for the removal of James Coyne as governor of the Bank of Canada, Wednesday supported Mr. Coyne's refusal to resign on the issue put up by Finance Minister Fleming.

ALL-RAP FLEMING

All criticized Mr. Fleming for demanding the resignation on the ground given—that of a new pension setup that would improve Mr. Coyne's position on his resignation—though each said he disagreed with many of Mr. Coyne's policies.

The professors were among 17 university economists who wrote Mr. Fleming in December suggesting a change of management in the bank. Others were not immediately available here.

Prof. W. W. Main, director of the School of Business, said Mr. Fleming's action in basing his demand for resignation on a pension issue was "ridiculous."

REASON "FLIMSY"

"This is politics, maybe," he said, "I don't know." Mr. Coyne's attacks on government policy in the past were "extremely unwise," but, in Mr. Fleming's demand, "the reason given was flimsy."

Dr. H. C. Eastman, assistant professor of political economy, said "the pension issue is quite inconsequential in regard to over-all monetary policy, which is Mr. Coyne's responsibility. This issue should be made grounds for dismissal. Mr. Coyne is a man of many faults but I don't think one of them is lack of personal integrity."

"FAT IS IN FIRE"

J. H. Dales, associate professor in the same department, said: "I didn't think it was a very satisfactory way of bringing the issue before the public. Now the fat is really in the fire. I can't feel that Fleming handled it very well. He should have made the first public announcement, rather than Coyne."

E. P. Newfield, professor of economics, said, "there have been growing differences between the department of finance and the Bank of Canada over bank policies and I am surprised these reasons were not given in the request for Mr. Coyne's resignation."

"Mr. Coyne has every right to make sure an issue as important as his resignation is made completely public. It might be a good opportunity to review the whole matter of the way the bank is controlled."

Board Switched

MONTREAL (CP)—John T. Bryden, a former director of the Bank of Canada, said Wednesday governor James Coyne had the confidence of his board of directors until at least a few weeks ago.

Mr. Bryden, an insurance executive who resigned from the board April 4 because of business pressure, said:

"There were obviously slight differences of views, slight differences of emphasis, but on balance he had the support of the board while I was a member."

The board asked Mr. Coyne for his resignation by a vote of 9-1 Tuesday.

Referring to the board's action in raising Mr. Coyne's pension, one of the issues connected with the government's demand for Mr. Coyne's resignation, Mr. Bryden said:

"The action was taken in February, 1960, after consideration which extended over several months, and the recommendation was unanimously approved by the board. 'Obviously it was our firm belief that we were justified and it was our opinion after consultation with the justice department that it was within our powers.'"

INCREASE CONSISTENT

He said the increase "seemed to us to be reasonably consistent with the job, the tenure of office, responsibilities and the hazards."

RETIREMENT June 30 awaits Dr. Gordon M. Shrum as head of the physics department and dean of graduate studies at the University of B.C. He will be succeeded in the latter post by Prof. F. H. Soward. Russian-born Dr. George M. Volkoff will become head of the physics department.

Pipeline Contracts Awarded

VANCOUVER (CP)—President Frank M. McMahon of Westcoast Transmission said Wednesday work will start immediately on the company's 500-mile oil pipeline connecting Peace River oil fields of northeastern British Columbia with the Trans-Mountain line to Vancouver.

The 20-inch line will run from Taylor, 40 miles north of Dawson Creek, to Kamloops where it will link up with the Trans-Mountain line carrying Alberta oil to Vancouver.

He said construction of the line will employ 600 men and is expected to result in development programs employing 5,000 more.

75,000 BARRELS A DAY

Contracts have now been awarded for the job, expected to cost $35,000,000. Mr. McMahon's statement said. The line would have an initial capacity of 75,000 barrels a day.

It would be built along the right-of-way of Westcoast's natural gas pipeline and would be operated by Westcoast but would be owned by Western Pacific Products and Crude Oil Pipelines Ltd., a B.C. company in which Westcoast has a large financial interest.

Contracts have been awarded in B.C. wherever possible and only one has had to be placed outside Canada, a $400,000 order for pumping engines not available in this country, the statement said.

A tank farm with capacity of 250,000 barrels will be built at Kamloops together with an office and control room.

Dutton-Williams Ltd. and Canadian Bechtel Ltd. have been awarded the major construction contracts.

Approximately 50 oil-drilling rigs will be activated in the Peace River district, each one requiring about 100 men to operate and service, Mr. McMahon predicted.

Hospital Head Retires

Retirement at the end of this month for Gorge Road Hospital administrator Mrs. Florence E. Mutrie was announced Wednesday night.

No replacement was named by hospital board chairman Mrs. C. C. Warren.

Mrs. Mutrie was administrator for seven years and hospital secretary for one year.

Previously she was city welfare administrator for eight years after serving as assistant administrator for 13 years.

The hospital board presented her with a set of luggage at a smorgasbord supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Nimmo, 3006 Leigh Road.

A New National Policy

MR. COYNE IS BEING DISMISSED from the Bank of Canada not because of a dispute about his pension as the Government at first indicated, but because he is opposed to the Government's basic policy.

A completely new "expansionist" policy, Mr. Fleming says, will be introduced in next Tuesday's budget and since apparently it must involve an expansion of the money supply which Mr. Coyne is unlikely to accept, he must go.

Thus Mr. Fleming has reversed his former dictum that monetary management is exclusively under the control of the central bank—a dictum quite impossible to sustain and not asserted even by Mr. Coyne. The Government has finally abandoned it to declare its final authority over public business. It has every right to do so and every constitutional right to dismiss Mr. Coyne if he refuses in conscience to agree with the Government's policy.

But it has no right to smear the honor of Mr. Coyne by pretending, as it pretended up to yesterday, that he was being dismissed because of a dispute about his pension. On that score a full apology is due to Mr. Coyne but an apology is not enough. Parliament through an appropriate committee should investigate this extraordinary affair and give Mr. Coyne every chance to explain his position when he feels that his integrity has been impugned.

Actually no one who knows him could imagine for a moment that he would do anything improper. The clumsy pretext of the pension dispute lasted only 24 hours once the real dispute between the Government and the bank's governor came to light.

The fact is that the Government has decided to embark on a program which it expected Mr. Coyne to oppose in so far as it affected the nation's money supply.

This program cannot be judged until it is presented to Parliament next week in the budget but obviously it represents a formidable change in the Government's thinking, a new situation in our politics, a watershed in the nation's business.

What precisely is the Government trying to do? Does it intend to increase public spending and if so on what scale? Is it planning to finance its huge impending deficit by a further inflation of the currency? Will it push down interest rates for the time being by creating more money? If more money is to be created over the objections of Mr. Coyne, what will be the effect on prices, on unemployment, on the national economy? And who is to be the new bank's governor enforcing the Government's decisions?

These are the questions raised but not answered by Mr. Fleming's preliminary reply to Mr. Coyne. Mr. Fleming cannot be criticized for refusing to reveal the contents of his budget in advance. No doubt he would have said nothing until budget night if Mr. Coyne had not refused to resign quietly as the Government strangely enough expected him to do.

When the new financial, monetary and fiscal policy is introduced, however, it must be considered solely on its own merits apart altogether from the Government's quarrel with Mr. Coyne. Then having retired from office with no shadow on his reputation and a magnificent record of service behind him Mr. Coyne will be free for the first time to criticize the new policy as he sees fit. He will be a valuable witness in what must soon become a great national debate perhaps leading to an early election.

While judgment must be suspended until the budget is introduced it is unfortunate, indeed unforgivable that the Government should cast a cheap little innuendo on a fine public servant when it should have admitted in the first place that the quarrel was one of basic policy and should have admitted too that it cannot escape its responsibility for the management of all public business.

One important point at least is clear in all this confusion: the Government now accepts this responsibility which it so long denied in the whole field of money. Whatever the new policy may be the Government must stand or fall on it. Mr. Coyne's days as the whipping boy are finished.

Competitive Atomic Power

THE EDISON ELECTRIC INSTITUTE, meeting the other day in New York, was told that atomic power may compete with coal and oil in some areas sooner than the 1968 date set as an objective by the Atomic Energy Commission.

"Whether or not we do attain this objective depends more on administrative and political factors and the support of investor-owned utilities rather than on technical factors," Mr. K. D. Nichols, Washington consulting engineer, informed the institute.

Mr. Nichols added that the competitive position of atomic power would naturally be improved in areas where alternative fuel costs are high—he mentioned California and New England—and those interested in the prospect were conscious of the continuing technical improvements in the fossil-fuel plants.

The dates mentioned before the Edison Electric Institute were not related to the competitive position of the atom against abundant hydro potentials in certain parts of the continent. The fact that they are being considered as an alternative to coal and oil, however, indicates the progress made in bringing down production costs.

They emphasize the long range planning necessary even in regions where water power is abundant and incompletely harnessed. The point underscored is that hydro development must be related to the time in the foreseeable future when its use will be co-ordinated with atomic power—a point of direct concern to British Columbia.

By a Neighbor's Accusation

TWO FACTS SEEM INDICATED by the recent Soviet decree that black marketeers, embezzlers and others may be sent to Siberian exile for two to five years—on little more than the accusations of their neighbors.

One is that such crimes are so widespread in the "people's democracy" that new and more severe punishment must be imposed. The worker's paradise, as Marx and Lenin may have overlooked, must be populated by workers. Workers are people, and even under Communism people will react like people. There will be good and bad and in-between. If Communism takes angels to make it work, Russia has a long way to go yet.

The other point lies in the methods of trial under the new decrees. Persons may be found guilty by a formal court, or merely by an informal people's court in which the rules of evidence—the safeguard of the individual's rights under our system—are largely ignored. Accusation—by a neighbor who does not like you—is now almost tantamount to conviction as an enemy of the state.

Western observers see this as a reversal of the trend in Russian affairs which seemed to be promising more regard and protection for the individual. Increasing crime is apparently inviting increasingly harsh measures to cope with it. It is fair to wonder how the Russian people, with a taste of more equitable methods, will take this.

Drinking From the Sea

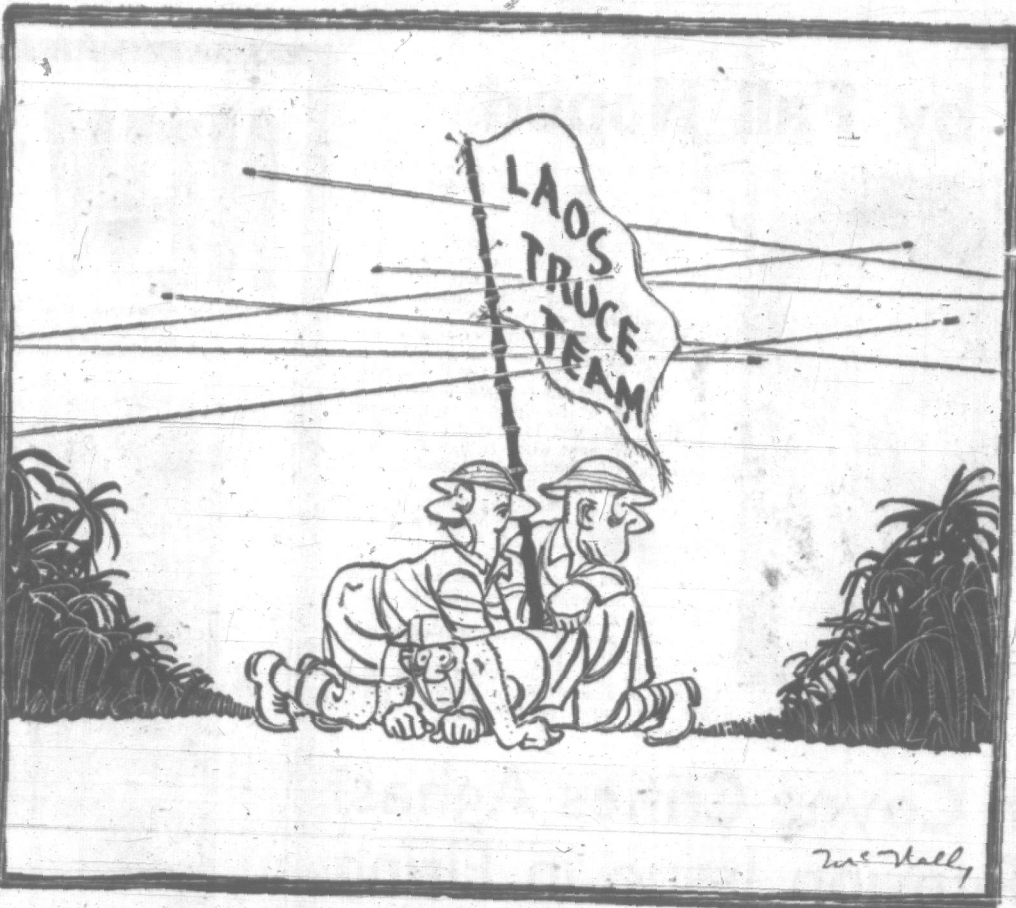

THIS MONTH RESIDENTS OF Freeport, Texas, began to drink Gulf of Mexico sea water from the faucets of their domestic taps—and only a few knew about it.

The supply was furnished by the first salt water conversion plant in the United States, completed in April at a cost of $1,500,000. The plant can process a million gallons daily at $1 per 1,000 gallons. This is about five times the cost of water from other sources.

It is not surprising that the cost of converting sea water into "fresh" is that much higher than financing water supplies from more conventional sources. It is surprising that it should be no more expensive, and that costs may be substantially reduced in the future.

This may be nothing more than an experiment on a large scale. It is nevertheless an experiment which could spell a revolution in many seacoast countries where lack of "fresh" water leaves the land arid and settlement next to impossible. Here, it appears, is another example of science's forecast of things to come.

NOT READY TO DECIDE

They're All Out of Step But Canada

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

CANADA is moving rapidly toward one of the largest decisions in its history. But the nation is not ready for that decision because the whole apparatus of government has deliberately postponed, evaded and disguised it. This attempt to suppress the most obvious facts of our national life cannot last much longer. As Britain advances towards the almost certain merging of its economy with the Common Market of Europe and thus to reshape the economy of the entire North Atlantic region, the several choices left to Canada will soon be clarified.

At the moment the Canadian government, despite Prime Minister Diefenbaker's offhand suggestion last week that a Commonwealth prime ministers' conference be summoned, seems to deny that problems of that sort must be faced. It brushes aside the need of any decision on Canada's part by asserting that Britain will never join the Common Market. If the government really believes that, it disbelieves the public statements of Prime Minister Macmillan in America, his private warnings to the cabinet in Ottawa and the clear movement of events in Britain.

Wrong Assumption

Anyway, the Canadian government is the only government in the Commonwealth which bases its policies on the assumption that the two giant trading blocs of Europe will not be amalgamated, that the existing patterns of North Atlantic trade will not be changed, that Canada has nothing to worry about.

For all its official posture of assurance, however, the government evidently is shaken. It knows that if Britain joins the Six of Europe, as it is likely to do by one means or another, the results for Canada must be momentous. That much has been admitted by Mr. Fleming. He says he cannot imagine any agreement between Britain and continental Europe which could fail to damage Canada's huge exports to the British market.

In case his government might be wrong in assuming that no such agreement is possible, he has threatened tariff retaliation against Britain if it dares to join the Common Market.

These threats—voiced even more bluntly by Trade Minister Hees—have not affected the British government in the least. It is going straight ahead with its policy of economic amalgamation in Europe.

Britain has no particular reason to heed Canada's objections or consider its convenience when Canada already has gravely damaged British interests by a series of restrictions on British imports, including textiles, automobiles and shipping. These measures, among others, have maintained a heavy trade balance in favor of Canada, a repeated annual deficit for Britain in the Canadian market.

Deeply Resented

While the British government, as usual, is discreet and friendly, it can be said with certain knowledge that Canadian policies are deeply resented in London.

Besides, the British government must defend Britain's primary interests and they lie mainly in the booming market of continental Europe, not in the relative small market of Canada. Without abundant access to Europe's prosperous consumers there can be no long-term prosperity for Britain.

The first question, then, for Canada to consider is how its business would be affected by the marriage of Europe's two trading blocs. The economic effects, as Mr. Fleming says, would be profound but they cannot be calculated definitely in advance. Everything would depend on the nature of the ultimate deal between the Six and the Seven.

If Britain accepted the entire Treaty of Rome, as the Six have accepted it, the British market would be placed under Europe's common tariff, while the tariffs between the member nations would be steadily reduced toward zero. All Canada's present Commonwealth preferences in Britain would disappear.

Still more serious, the Canadian foodstuffs and raw materials now moving into Britain without paying any tariff would have to pay the common and, in many cases, the high tariffs of Europe. Britain's large purchases of wheat, for example, would be switched in substantial measure from Canada to France.

Damaging Blows

In joining the Common Market Britain's problem and wish is to avoid these damaging blows to Canada, Australia, New Zealand and other Commonwealth exporters. Britain hopes and expects to find a compromise formula, permitting it to continue its present preferential or duty-free imports of raw materials from the Commonwealth, at least in their present volume.

If Europe agrees to this exemption from its common tariff it certainly will not exempt Canadian manufacturers. They will have to pay the common tariff in Britain, as on the continent. And it is chiefly in the field of manufactured goods that the Canadian government hopes to expand Canada's exports to Britain.

But Canada's risks are not confined to the British market. As the internal tariffs between the European nations continue to fall and disappear about 10 years from now Canada will face, and already is beginning to face, sharper competition in the rich continental markets. Its goods must pay customs duties while the goods of the partner nations move freely across Europe's boundaries.

There is no doubt that events in Europe threaten grave damage to Canada unless we are prepared to reassess our basic national policies and reverse their present direction. The only question is whether, how and when we should change them. We must make those decisions for ourselves. Britain and Europe will not wait for us.

In the Opinion of Our Correspondents

What's He Paid For?

In reference to Alderman Edgelow's statement in connection with the fly-ash cinder nuisance where it is stated, "the board expects the 'fullest co-operation' from industry on reducing the smoke and ash problem." I for one do not understand this statement.

Property owners, places of business, restaurants, hotels, motels, establishments, etc., have to, are not just expected to, co-operate with city bylaws, codes and regulations. Therefore so should the mill operators.

What are taxpayers paying a smoke inspector for?

Useful Project

What a valuable service the Scouts and Cubs rendered recently, clearing our coast beaches of glass, which can inflict such severe injuries.

But what is only occasionally included in the urging of precautions against fire in the out-of-doors, the woods and fields, is the warning that leaving whole or broken plain glass bottles where the sun's rays can reach them can and has caused many fires. This applies too, to a concave bowl, vase, etc., near a curtain in a window even to a magnifying glass.

Why Not Navy Man?

The appointment has been announced in the press of an ex-army colonel to be curator of the British Columbia Maritime Museum. Who in the name of reason had the say in doing these things?

I cannot believe that the Pacific Command is incapable of finding some ex-officer or rating with the ability and sea knowledge to run a maritime museum. It is only common sense (but then perhaps common sense does not enter into these appointments) to put a seaman to run a maritime business.

Is it too late for the persons who made the appointment to prevent themselves from looking ridiculous by appointing a naval man (any naval man) to run a naval show?

H. E. CONCHET, FCCS, 734 Beach Drive.

Need Before Art

May I suggest that it would be more timely to allot the $45,000 under consideration for the fountain, to expand our hospitals which the community sorely needs?

Would it not be a more worthy tribute to our ancestors?

Incidentally, I admire the picture of the fountain very much, but the world today does not seem to require government aid art before need.

DOLA CAVENTISH, 501 Belmont Rd.

Read and Note

In a spirit of co-operation and kindness I'd like to suggest that an appropriate member of the B.C. Government purchase the May issue of the magazine Horizon (price $4.50) and study the article titled "Monuments for Our Times" (page 41) by expert Marshall B. Davidson before embarking on any further fountainish projects.

In fact it might be good sense and good business for the Government to subscribe to Horizon (price $21 published every two months). It might widen its horizon.

I wish I could afford to—but then I'm only a taxpayer, paying for its eccentricities. GWEN CASH, 3516 Richmond Road.

United Front

Regarding talks about church union in May 23, June 3 and June 5 issues of your paper, I would like to say that a united front does seem reasonable. But could it be that the churches in their desire for unity will give consent to truth mixed with error? If so, then conscientious groups could not join in with them.

These groups would probably be despised and even hated. Religious conflict could be the result. History reveals that religious conflicts often lead to religious persecution, and often it is those who have been standing strictly for truth that have been persecuted.

DENNIS THE MENACE

"BOY, DID I HEAR SOME GOOD NEWS TODAY! MARGARET SAYS IT'S THE LAW THAT I'M INNOCENT 'TIL SOMEBODY PROVES I DID IT!"

WASHINGTON:

Basic Facts

By WALTER LIPPMANN

WE have had a run of bad news and the time has come when we must make up our minds whether to face it and learn from it, or to shrink from it into a nervous breakdown with suicidal tendencies. There are altogether too many of us who in dismay and disappointment are ready to admit that Khrushchev is right in predicting that Communism is sweeping the world and that, short of war, we have no means of stopping it.

I believe this defeatism to be profoundly mistaken and unwarranted. It is based on a misreading and a misunderstanding of what has happened since the Second World War and what is happening now.

The root of the error is to equate, instead of to differentiate between, the Communist movement which owes allegiance to Moscow and Peking, and the world-wide movements of social reform and social revolution, which almost everywhere seek national independence and non-alignment with the great powers.

Mr. Khrushchev's hope and belief is that he will lead and direct all the reforming and revolutionary movements. We play right into his hands when we identify ourselves with the opponents of change rather than with the leaders of change.

Not Gone

For those who think that Laos and Southeast Asia are "gone," and that like the dominoes all the Asian nations and the Pacific will "go" too, I should like to call attention to Egypt.

It was not so many years ago—in fact it was in 1955—when we were told that Egypt and Syria and Iraq, and all the oil of the Persian Gulf, and the Suez Canal, were "gone" or "going." Egypt had gotten arms from Czechoslovakia, it got Soviet help in building the Aswan Dam, it nationalized the Suez Canal, and all was "lost."

Yet look at it now. Syria and Iraq and the Persian Gulf states are not Communist. Egypt continues to put its Communists in jail. Mr. Khrushchev has attacked Egypt publicly. President Nasser is calling a congress of the neutrals who do not take their direction from Moscow. Egypt has played a decisive part in preventing the flow of Soviet arms to the rebels in the Congo.

After Egypt and the Middle East, look at Africa, look at Guinea, which six months ago was written off as "gone." It is not gone despite the several hundred Soviet technicians who are there. Probably it is not "gone" in part at least because the Soviet technicians who are there have made themselves so unpopular. In any event the chances are good that Guinea in the end will line up with the rest of independent Africa as a neutral state.

There is now a great likelihood that the whole of North Africa, all the way from Morocco to Egypt, will take a neutral line, refusing to be dominated by Moscow or to take direction from Paris or Washington.

Strong Impression

Moreover, I do not believe that Cuba is "gone," and I have a very strong impression that Mr. Khrushchev does not begin to think Cuba is as "gone" as, let us say, Sen. Smathers thinks it is. For Cuba is as far from Moscow as Laos is from Washington.

In time, not necessarily in a very long time, the Cuban revolution will rejoin the community of American states. It will do this because it has no other place to go.

The wave of the future is not Communist domination of the world. The wave of the future is social reform and social revolution driving towards the goal of national independence and equality of personal status.

In this historical tendency Mr. Khrushchev will be, as Mr. Alesso tells us he is supposed to have described himself, "the locomotive of history" only if we set ourselves up to be the road blocks of history.

What is the lesson of all these experiences? At bottom the lesson is that there is, as President Kennedy said the other day, a world-wide social upheaval which the Communists did not create but which they hope to capture. If we make our own policy one of opposition to this world-wide movement of social change, we shall lose the cold war and Mr. Khrushchev's hopes will be realized. If, on the other hand, we befriend and support with active measures the movements of social change, their leaders will not submit to Moscow because they do not have to submit to Moscow. They do not wish to submit to Moscow because what they want is independence.

'Drake' . . . in Concrete

FOR years I have been telling anyone who would listen about the quiet joys of living on the waterfront.

My story, worn smooth by repetition, goes this way:

A person living on the shore can come home from the workaday cares of the office, saunter down his path to the rocks, sit there of a calm early evening, and drink in serenity.

He watches the mountains change color, listens to the soft lap of the waves, and the worries that have troubled him fall away. His mind is emptied of that perilous stuff that hangs upon the brain. It becomes receptive to an inflowing of goodness.

I'm told that you can get this theory in better form if you study some of the esoteric philosophies or if you delve into the mystique of meditation.

Without such study or such delving, I have accepted the idea, without the wear and tear of cerebration. Only recently have I realized that when I sit by the shore, looking at the mountains, I have nothing to purge from my mind. You can't pour anything out of a vessel that is empty.

Now I can sit there and find my worry over the vacancies in my mind slipping away. I have become a better practitioner of the theory. The process leaves me receptive to any good thought that comes along—if only a good thought would come along.

In the last few days the open spaces that are my mind have been occupied by a most engaging tenant. It has always been my deep concern that I have no intelligent or creative interest in various art forms. At school, in drawing and painting class, what came from my pencil or my water color brush never resembled anything within my ken, other than earlier daubs that had come from my pencil or my water color brush. When, as a child, I modelled my plasticine, the lumps and mounds looked only like lumps and mounds of plasticine.

My art appreciation was limited to an egocentric interest in the word used as the contraction of a Christian name.

Now I believe I may have been wrong, have been under-rating my artistic proclivities. This is the good thought that came along to me in my seaside vacuity the other evening.

Before me, as I gazed unseeing, lay an old mooring block I made some years ago. At that time I used to leave my rowboat at anchor offshore. Now it leaks too much. I can't anchor it out, and I've taken the precaution of fitting the block and using it ashore as a counterweight for my winch.

To an ordinary person, that block may appear nothing more than a cube of concrete poured soft into a butter-box and adorned with a stout, curved bar of iron to which I used to attach my chain. So I had considered it for years. But I was then looking at it with my artistic eye unopened.

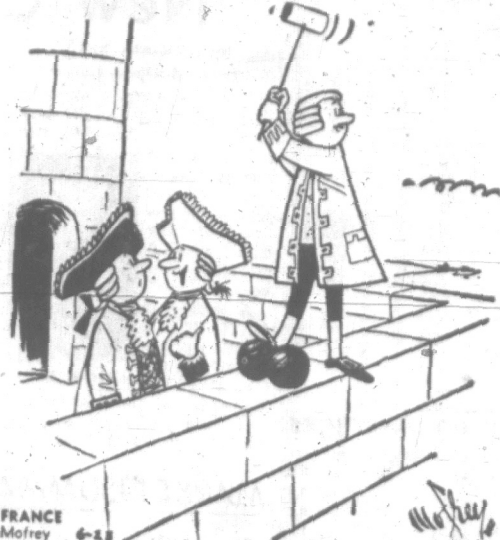

Something I read recently now permits me to see—and to see clearly. The piece I read explained the practice of a sculptor who created something, looked long and hard at the creation and then gave it a name.

I have looked long and hard at my erstwhile mooring block and discovered hidden character in it. Also this scrutiny has roused a philosophical expansion which lets me name the figure. Concrete it may be to the uncultured eye. To me it's abstract. I call it "Drake."

The concept, cubist in form, catches the spirit of a Newbolt poem—"Slugg" between the rounds in Nombre Dios Bay. Capten, art thou sleepin' there below?"

"Drake" it is and "Drake" it shall remain, squat, sturdy, with iron in it. For a suitable consideration to an impecunious artist I might, however, modify the name slightly. If Monty can relate himself to a cube in concrete, and is prepared to make me an offer that is not insulting, I might change the Newbolt part to Tyrwhitt. How he could relate, as the social workers say, to a cube in concrete is an interesting piece of headwork in itself.

Too much for me. I'll merely go down the lot, stare vacuously out at the Strait and the mountains changing color, "Drake" by my side, and find scarcely a worry in a mind as clear as an unfurnished room. Nice to think, though, that Art is more than a name.

RULE BY FEAR OR TRUST?

S. Korea Regime Future Uncertain

SEOUL (AP)—South Korea's army junta has not yet made clear whether its rule will be based on fear or popular trust.

On this hinges the question of whether relations with other countries will be cordial or merely correct.

Western observers are encouraged at some of the moves by Lt. Gen. Do Yung Chang's supreme ruling council but disturbed at others.

They feel it too early to predict whether the new South Korea will be a harsh and repressive state, embarrassing to support, or a regime worthy of confidence of its own people and friends abroad.

U.S. officials obviously are applying what pressure they can to remind the new rulers that the latter kind of government has a better chance of getting the massive kind of aid Chang seeks. He hopes for an increase in U.S. economic assistance that totalled about $250,000,000 the last year.

There is some relief because the junta has taken on a host of civilian advisers, instead of cutting itself off from all but the military.

Harsh law enforcement since the coup has brought a few tangible benefits to average Koreans in the form of cleaner streets and freedom from fear of hoodlums and reckless motorists.

The junta has taken steps to perpetuate totalitarian rule, bringing misgivings to some Koreans who at first welcomed the overthrow of Premier John Chang's government.

Such steps include regimenting the schools and populace in a "national reconstruction" popular front-type movement, and proclaiming a supreme law that short-circuits the constitution and gives absolute power to the junta.

NEWSMEN ARRESTED

The regime also has clamped down severely on free expression. Several newspapermen on the country's largest daily were arrested after it printed a remark by President Po Sun Yung implying that continued military rule would affect the UN attitude toward South Korea.

There is a widespread feeling that the new military rule could prove an economic blessing if it stops the waste and graft that long have plagued South Korea.

B.C. Drug Centre 'Too Big'

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian Mental Health Association Wednesday criticized the federal government's plan to build a large maximum-security narcotics treatment centre in British Columbia.

At a press conference, association director Dr. John Griffin complained at the size and remoteness of the proposed centre.

He said the $5,000,000 centre, to be built east of Haney, B.C., about 1½ hours drive from downtown Vancouver, would accommodate 500 persons.

He suggested that 50 or 100-bed centres be built in several municipalities across the country instead of the one in B.C. Vancouver might need two or three because of prevalence of addicts there.

The proposed clinic was too much like one at Lexington, Ky., which has had "a long and continuous history of failure" because the institution did not have proper rehabilitation facilities as an integral part of the treatment within the community.

"We have an opportunity to avoid the same mistake," he said. He suggested that $1,000,000 of the $5,000,000 go for follow-up treatment in Vancouver.

OBNOXIOUS VISITORS OUT ONTARIO HOSPITALS DECIDE

TORONTO (CP)—The hospital visitor who sits on the patient's bed, peeling an orange under a cloud of his own tobacco smoke, will become the target of public hospital administrators in Ontario.

Most visitors act as a tonic, the administrators say, but those in a thoughtless minority are a nuisance value out of proportion to their number. And previous attempts to convince this minority that rules for visitors benefit the patient have failed.

HUMOR AND HORSE SENSE

Now, backed by the Ontario Hospital Association, the hospital administrators hope to eliminate the problem with a series of colorful posters containing humor and horse sense.

The posters lampoon the visitor who chummily sits on the bed; offers to share his cigarettes with the ailing host; wanders into every private room before he finds the correct one; and with his fellow visitors turns every bedside gathering into a family reunion.

One poster has the caption "I heard you like books!" and shows a book-laden visitor landing with a grin on a squashed patient.

Stanley W. Martin, executive secretary-treasurer of the OHA, said the hospitals will use humor as their weapon but this does not lessen the seriousness of the problem.

'DEEPLY CONCERNED'

"Hospitals are deeply concerned about the visiting situation because of its very real effect on the provision of good patient care," Mr. Martin said.

"Those who do not always follow the rules probably mean well, and we hope that if they can recognize themselves in these posters they will quickly see the error of their ways."

HOME GARDEN

By HILDA BEASTALL

Warm Weather Planting Hints

There is still much planting going on during this warm week, and indeed it can continue successfully if the fundamentals of good gardening are observed.

Plants which have a ball of moist soil around their roots, whether they are summer annuals or winter flowering shrubs, have just as much chance of becoming established now as during the cooler days of spring.

In fact, with warmer soil temperatures root action will be faster.

Moisture at the roots is one necessity to aid in re-establishing any plant in new quarters. The soil around the roots should be capable of holding moisture at least until new roots are made, and there is a happy medium to be sought in the amount.

Too much moisture will prevent the roots from "breathing", and they will be unable to reach out into their new environment. Too little at this time of year can well result in drying out and ultimate death of the plant.

Of great value is the overhead spraying with water. This seems to replace the loss of moisture through the leaves by transpiration. Normally the loss is replaced continuously through the roots taking it in from the soil and transmitting it to the leaf surfaces.

However, when the roots are not fully active this process is slow.

Plants should not be allowed to wilt. Prevention by spraying in warm or windy weather will do much towards producing healthy, happy plants and an almost satisfied gardener!

Grain Shipments From B.C. Ports Set New Record

VANCOUVER (CP)—Grain shipments out of B.C. ports in May reached a record 19,764,075 bushels, much higher than it was thought possible with existing port facilities.

The previous month's record was set in February, 1959, when the four ports—Prince Rupert, Victoria, New Westminster and Vancouver—shipped 18,504,000 bushels.

W. A. Sankey of the Vancouver Merchants' Exchange Friday predicted that June totals will exceed those of May.

Heavy shipments of grain to Red China are the cause for the record.

Montreal Will Get $20 Million Hotel

MONTREAL (CP)—Peelbrooke Development Corporation of Montreal has announced, as owners, that preliminary negotiations have been completed with Sheraton Hotels for leasing a 38-storey hotel to be built in midtown Montreal.

Estimated cost of the project is $20,000,000.

The announcement said the hotel, of circular-tower type, will be built in the near future at the northwest corner of Peel and Sherbrooke Streets.

front-page endorsement of Canada's central bank policies by E. M. Bernstein, one-time director of research for the International Monetary Fund and now a consulting economist in Washington.

The FP quotes from a recent Bernstein study on Canadian economic conditions under the heading "Top World Economist Says Coyne Is Right".

Mr. Bernstein stands solidly behind Bank of Canada Governor Coyne when he says in his study: "Because of excessive inflow of foreign capital (and the consequent deficit in the balance of payments on current account), output and employment in Canada are far below the level that would be justified by home demand.

"The Canadian economy cannot continue to absorb the adverse effects of a large deficit in its balance of payments."

Speaking of balance of payments deficits, Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau chief Bill Hawkins passes along some figures compiled by the United States Department of Commerce on tourist spending. Preliminary statistics show that while Canada received $390 million United States tourist dollars last year, Canadians spent about $470 million in the United States—a deficit of $80 million.

American spending in Canada was up by about $20 million despite a smaller number of border crossings, which indicates considerably heavier spending by individuals.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

LAS VEGAS — The high point of Dean Martin's 44th birthday party was when Peter Lawford came out in a waiter's coat, carrying a tray to serve Frank Sinatra, and said to the audience:

"Can you imagine what he'd have me doing if Jack had lost?"

It was a Sinatra-Martin-Sammy Davis-Joe Bishop "Summit Meeting"—and Peter came off better than brother-in-law Jack did at his summit session in Vienna.

Lawford, whom "the group" affectionately calls "Charlie Snob" or "Peter Pentagon", almost stole the show.

First, there was a surprise for Dean at the Sands Hotel—and Dean arrived too early, when only a dozen were there.

"Hey, this is a surprise party for you—you're early," somebody told Dino.

He very co-operatively left and came back later—and pretended to wife Jeanne that he was surprised, astonished, amazed and flabbergasted.

After Sinatra's midnight opening at the Sands—with Marilyn Monroe sitting ring-side looking up at Frank—the public festivities commenced.

Frank, Sammy, Vic Damone and Eddie Fisher sang special lyrics by Sammy Cahn and Jimmy Van Heusen. When Eddie sang "I Love Dino But Not Like My Liz", the audience applauded Miss Taylor, seated ringside across from Marilyn.

When Dean got on stage he said, "This milk is on my foot," and Joey Bishop asked the audience, "How does he know?"

They wheeled out an enormous birthday cake—shaped like a bottle of scotch. "Everybody cut yourself a slice of scotch," Dean told them.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL IN NEW YORK

Lucille Ball's seeing London with comic Gary Morton... Ed Ames, who quit the Ames Bros. vocal group, will do Shakespeare in summer stock.

Jack LaRosa pulled several ligaments water skiing, hobbled around Yankee Stadium with a cane.

Duo: Ted Williams and actress Neiva Moore at Erika's.

Loew's, opening its Summit Hotel here soon, will build luxury hotels in Europe, a residential hotel on Park Ave.

Mrs. Norman Mailer's studying acting. Rocky Marciano and publisher Joe Weidner'll put out a sports magazine.

Eleanor Powell, opening at the Latin Quarter, is close to signing for a TV spectacular.

EARL'S PEARLS: Someone described a second-rate restaurant: "It's the sort of place people stand in front of while deciding where to go to eat."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: A fellow sighed, "I don't know why the government can't cut down on its spending. It made me cut down on mine."

A local man denies he's a lush, but he's the only guy in the world who doesn't see anything unusual about the Tower of Pisa. That's Earl, brother.

Daphne Poisoning Warning

Dr. Adam Szczawinski, provincial botanist, has advised owners of daphne bushes to clip off any berries after two minor cases of poisoning were reported to Royal Jubilee Hospital poison control centre this week.

"The best way to avoid trouble is also the best way to care for daphne bushes," he said.

The daphne bush, which grows about two feet high, comes in two varieties—the deciduous, with berries turning a bright red at this time, and the evergreen, with a black berry.

Hawks Skate Away With Most Tested Puck Talent

MONTREAL (CP) — From the stickhandling at the National Hockey League's annual meeting, Chicago Black Hawks have emerged with the most in tested big league material. The hockey men wound up their three-day meet Wednesday and in the intra-league draft the Hawks snapped up two men who figure to give the club a healthy push toward a second consecutive Stanley Cup. They are centre Bronco Horvath and defenceman Aut Erickson, both from Boston Bruins.

It was a busy session, too, for the club owners. They took the penalty-shot out of mothballs, reduced the team rosters for games and tossed more money into the player pot for winning teams.

Concerned about wild competitive bidding by the clubs for teen-age youngsters, they also took steps to crack down on abuses.

Horvath, runner-up for the NHL scoring crown two years ago, was among five NHL regulars and three farm-club rookies plucked in the draft at $20,000 each.

The Hawks also engineered a trade with Detroit Red Wings, dealing off last year's team captain Eddie Litzenberger for forwards Gerry Melynk and Brian Smith. Smith spent most of last season with Hershey Bears of the American League.

Montreal Canadiens announced they obtained rugged defenceman Lou Fontinato from New York Rangers, completing the deal that sent all-star rearguard Doug Harvey to New York as player-coach.

Detroit and Montreal passed on all calls in the draft. The Wings lost no players but Montreal gave up left winger Guy Gendron to the Rangers.

Among the three draft choices by the Bruins was defencive centre Earl Balfour from Chicago.

Chicago defenceman Al Arbour was grabbed by Toronto Maple Leafs.

There was some surprise that no goalies were drafted; particularly Charlie Hodge, left unprotected by the Canadiens after they picked up Cesare Maniago in Tuesday's minor league draft.

Chicago also lost Vic Hadfield, with Buffalo of the AHL last season, a d Pat Stapleton, with Sault Ste. Marie of the Eastern Professional League. New York took Hadfield and Stapleton went to the Bruins.

The Bruins also took New York's Orland Kutenbach, with Vancouver of the Western League most of last season.

The club owners altered the penalty-shot rule by making it mandatory for the fouled player to take the shot unless he is injured. The rule formerly said anyone on the team could take it.

The owners also approved the rules committee's recommendation to have a penalty shot awarded when an infraction means the loss of a reasonable scoring opportunity.

This means referees will likely award more free shots in the future. The call has been made only once during the last two seasons.

Under the new provisions, should a fouled player be incapacitated because of the foul, the shot could be taken by any teammate on the ice at the time of the foul. To guard against faking injury, a fouled player who claims he is incapacitated and unable to take the shot leaves the game.

From a survey conducted by the league president, Clarence Campbell, the owners felt there may be a tendency toward waste of player strength and decided to trim game rosters. After December 1 each season, a club may dress 16 players plus a goalie. Heretofore it was 17 and a goalie.

Campbell had talks with representatives of the player council and on his recommendation the owners granted the players a hefty increase in award allotments. For each player of the first-place team the amount is increased to $1,500 from $1,000. For second-place it's $750 instead of $500, for third $500 instead of $350, and for fourth $250 instead of $150.

For members of the two winning teams in the Stanley Cup semi-finals, the payoff is increased to $1,500 from $1,250. For semi-final losers it's unchanged at $750.

The cup winners get $2,000 instead of $1,750 and the runner-up $1,000 instead of $750.

The owners decided to give further study to the competitive bidding system aimed at placing teenage players with pro-sponsored amateur clubs. Campbell was to deliver a report later based on the ideas of club owners and general managers.

A Hall of Fame selection committee also approved a suggestion by the club owners to include referees in the hall for the first time. Chosen were Mickey Ion, Cooper Smeaton and the late Chaucer Elliott.

LOU FONTINATO ... Habitant now

Hal Malone LOOKS AT SPORTS

Long after he had saddled six Kentucky Derby winners and was acknowledged as one of the nation's great thoroughbred horse trainers, somebody asked the late Ben Jones how he chose his trade.

"As a boy," said Ben, "I couldn't decide whether I was crazier about Holsteins or horses. When I got big enough to do the milking I made up my mind right away."

Plain Ben Jones died Tuesday at Lexington, Kentucky, a few furlongs from Churchill Downs, the scene of many of his greatest triumphs.

"Great" is a misused, abused word, often applied to sports figures in the way a small boy splashes strawberry jam on a piece of bread. But it fitted Ben Jones. It wasn't simply because he saddled 1,528 winners, which earned $4,703,326 in the years between 1914 and 1953.

He merited the adjectives and the accolades because he leaned more on common-sense than the trainer's handbook in his handling of skittish horseflesh.

"Always used to baffle me," he said, "how a man could train out of a book. Lose a page and he wouldn't know what to do."

Few problems baffled Ben Jones indefinitely. As Eddie Arcaro, the jockey who rode four Jones-trained Kentucky Derby winners said: "He was the greatest trainer I ever rode for. Ben did things with a horse that other trainers will be copying for years."

Extensive and capable participation in sports, plus outstanding qualities of leadership and sportsmanship earned John McKeachie and Barbara Welsh coveted Alpha Hi-Y Trophies during annual "awards day" ceremonies at Victoria High School Wednesday. (Times photo by Strickland.)

Al Just Can't Get The Lady to Smile

New Westminster 9, Victoria 7
By EBNIE FEDORUK

Dame Fortune can't believe in sharing charms. She smiles in one direction only, and it's Al Gill's misfortune to be standing in the wrong spot. He draws the cold shoulder treatment, and that also happens to be the Victoria lacrosse team's misfortune.

Mr. Gill wasn't bragging when his words cut through the steam and the liniment odor of the Victoria dressing room: "I could have won that game myself."

Mr. Gill was, if you value one man's opinion, just being honest.

The Vics had a chance to strike the win column in the Inter-City Lacrosse League standing, but they missed at the Memorial Arena on this muggy Wednesday evening only because Lady Luck refused to smile at honest Alan.

The decision, 9-7, went to unbeaten New Westminster. And please don't say "ho hum," because the Victoria players deserve kinder remarks.

Words, especially from coach Arnold Ferguson, would have been even sweeter had Gill fared a little better in his romance with that Fortune lady. The box shows the leading, 27-year-old ball-hawk took four shots and scored once against New Westminster's Les Norman.

It's hard to figure if the shot-counters included the times the ball bounced off the posts. The press-box mathematicians counted six shots that glanced off the posts, four by Gill alone.

Four times Gill had Norman mesmerized and four times the ball bounced off and out. Not off and in.

Out ... and that was the difference.

With luck, he could have had five goals. But that has been Gill's lot since returning to the Victoria team five games ago. In his four previous outings he has managed only one goal.

Good Team Effort

He doubled that with another scoring shot Wednesday, but his point total is poor indication of his ability. Gill was the standout Wednesday in what was a good team effort—and a complete about-face from Saturday's 15-5 lacing at the hands of Vancouver.

Jack May, Tom Collett, Reg Foster, Tom Druce, Al Davies and John Hanson also scored for Victoria. Charlie Saunders and ex-Victorian Paul Parnell paced Westminster to its 12th straight victory by scoring two apiece.

But for a bad opening period—and that run of luck against Gill—the Vics never caught up after giving up two soft goals.

The league leaders picked on veteran Gordie Johnston for eight of their nine goals. Johnston, who pulled some leg ligaments late in the second quarter, gave way to Dave Unwin at the 2:05 mark of the third period.

Unwin Sparkles

Unwin, who played with Vancouver in the 1959 season but sat out last season because of an extended trip through Europe, was called out of the stands at half-time and turned in a sparkling performance.

Now playing in Victoria's senior "B" league, Unwin came into the game with the score 8-4 in Westminster's favor. He gave up only one goal to rookie Doug Wallsmith—in the 28 minutes he worked. Unwin, who is expected to start in tonight's return bout at New Westminster, could hardly be faulted for failing to stop the one goal that beat him. A defensive lapse in front of the Victoria net gave Wallsmith a chance to move right in on Unwin.

As long as Vics continue to put all out, as they did Wednesday, it must be considered impossible for them to continue the season without a win. They checked well, drew more than their share of face-

AWARDS PRESENTED ... AT HIGH SCHOOLS

Student Stars Honored

It was a big day for athletic stars Wednesday as Victoria and Esquimalt high schools held their annual "awards day" ceremonies.

Perhaps the most coveted award at Vic High went to Bob Harris, who received the Leader Cup as the student who best combined academic, athletic and leadership qualities and played an outstanding part in school activities during the school year.

Alpha Hi-Y Trophies—for the boy and girl students judged to have best combined wide and excellent participation in sports with leadership and sportsmanship—went to John McKeachie and Barbara Welsh.

Vic High's W. A. Roper Trophy was awarded to Bob Vosburgh for his all-around athletic excellence and consistent example of sportsmanship.

Bruce Mitchell was the big winner at Esquimalt. Mitchell, who was selected to receive the Citizenship Cup, also received the award as the outstanding boy athlete.

Helene Panton was honored as the top athlete among girl students at Esquimalt.

Marilyn Laurie and Barry Scott shared the sportsman award, and Gwen Nelson was selected as the Esquimalt student who best combined sportsmanship with all-around ability in athletics.

Film Patrol Assures Honest Racing

Peters was asked if racing looked any different to him as a steward rather than as a writer.

"The greatest change," he said, "has been in my mind. Now I have to climb 93 steps—from the ground to the stewards' box—eight times a day."

"Seriously, I've discovered that the horse is faster than the eye. As a writer I'd see a horse in trouble or a rider doing something he shouldn't and right away I'd be inclined to blame him. But with the film patrol I've noticed that the trouble the average person thinks he sees in a race quite likely was caused by circumstances which only the film patrol witnessed."

There's little doubt that the film patrol, more than any other device, mechanical or human, has assured the better of an honest run for his money.

Yet a creeping doubt remained. What about the horseman who deliberately "stuffed" (told the jockey to hold back) a horse two or three times to get the odds up in preparation for the day he would go all out for the money?

"It's happened," Peters admitted. "But most horsemen are smart enough to realize that one big pot isn't worth it. If we see a horse win at a price after three or four bad races we review the films of those races very carefully. Then we call the horseman before us. If he can't give us a good explanation for his horse's sudden change of form, he better start checking train departures right away."

It wasn't always that way, Massie White said. He recalled a day at Colwood, Victoria's long deceased mile track. Without the eye-in-the-sky or the film patrol stewards were forced to conduct a meeting by the seat of their pants.

"The meet was nearly over," said Massie, "when word spread that an old horse named Terry McAvoy was seriously ill and needed an expensive operation."

"Everybody liked Terry—he had one horse, Boy O Mine, which never broke any records—so it was decided to set up a race to help defray his medical costs."

"Nobody balked at the idea. The stewards, the patrol judges, the riders all went along."

"I forget who was supposed to win. But as the came out of the turn, every rider was looking over his shoulder for the sure thing."

"Just as they passed Norman Drysdale, the patrol judge, a rider yelled, 'Where is he?'"

"In a voice you could hear in Nanaimo, Drysdale yelled, 'He got left at the post.'"

Massie laughed. "Boy," he said, "you should have seen those riders get to work. They were every man for himself and Terry he damned all the way down the stretch."

Back-to-Back, Tiger Aces Trump Anything in Majors

By United Press International

Detroit Tigers have regained a share of first place in the American League today thanks to the 1-2 pitching punch of Frank Lary and Don Mossi, which recalls the Tigers' fabulous 1944 duo of Hal Newhouser and Dizzy Trout.

Newhouser and Trout combined to win 56 games in that 1944 season and the Tigers haven't had a pair like them since—unless Lary and Mossi are ready to do the job this year. Lary and Mossi show a combined record of 17-4 this season to give the Tigers the best pair of aces in either league.

Lary became the first 10-game winner of the season and increased his record to 10-3 Wednesday when he beat Boston Red Sox, 4-2, and enabled the Tigers to move back into a first-place, tie with Cleveland Indians, who lost to the New York Yankees, 11-5.

At a similar stage of the 1944 season, Newhouser and Trout had combined for 16 victories—one fewer than the Lary-Mossi combination has chalked up for the Tigers this year.

Lary, going the route for the 10th time this season, weathered a bases-filled jam in the first inning and went on to pitch an eight-inning Bill Bruton's two-run triple in the fourth inning was the big blow of the Detroit attack.

Roger Maris hit his 22nd homer of the season and Bobby Richardson's first of the year came with two on to lead the Yankees to their victory over Cleveland's Gary Bell. Whitey Ford, chugging along toward

Uplands Won't Qualify In 'Homer' Category

There are such things as "homers," but members of Uplands Inter-Club Golf League team apparently fail to qualify.

The Uplands team has broken even in four matches this year, winning two and losing two. Both of their victories have been chalked up on other courses. Both setbacks have been "at home."

Despite Uplands' 5-4 loss to Royal Colwood on Wednesday, the second-place team still managed to gain ground on leading Gorge Vale. The first-place Gorge gang was defeated 7-2 at Victoria Golf Club.

City amateur champion Laurie Kerr and pro Bill Court sparked Colwood's victory. Kerr, hitting 16 of 18 greens, scored successive birdies on the 14th, 15th and 16th holes to hand Gorge Fellow his first defeat in an individual match.

Kerr's fine performance helped him and partner George Andrew to a 4 and 3 best-ball victory over Fellow and Claude Heggie.

Court showed top form in beating Frank Scroggs 4 and 3, and that helped Colwood to another best-ball point despite the fact the pro's partner, Bill Garner, was beaten by Joe Briggs, 5 and 4. Court and Garner won the four-ball, 1 up.

Ken Lawson and Fred Ranson picked up most of Uplands' points, winning their individual matches and also taking the four-ball.

At Victoria Club the hosts' near-sweep moved the Oak Bay swingers into third place, a half point ahead of Colwood.

Only a strong effort by Dave Fanthorpe averted a sweep. Fanthorpe downed southpaw Al Manson 6 and 4 and was instrumental in helping partner Art Donaldson to share in the four-ball victory. Cliff Horwood, another southpaw, upset Donaldson, one up.

Sparkling Oak Bay's victory were Bill McColl, Laurie Carroll, Dr. George Bigelow and Roy Chappell.

BIG ONE FOR LADDER

Big one that didn't get away is this 24 1/4-pound salmon that gives Jim Jennings lead in this week's competition for prizes in Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association ladder derby. Jennings hooked fish on Minnow Teaser near Whittaker Point, needed about 30 minutes to bring it into boat. (Times photo.)

Bisley Next Stop For Sniping Pats

Canada's top-ranked service rifle team will leave Victoria Monday to compete at the famous Bisley matches in England next month.

Led by Captain Hank Pankratz, the team from the 1st Battalion Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry is rated as one of the best army squads ever to represent Canada at Bisley.

Other team members are Sgt. Ed Zwolak, Cpl. Ray Ellis, L.Cpl. Frank Tenta, Pte. John Matthews, Pte. Al Dubois, Pte. Dave Moffat and Pte. Ron Gebhardt.

Last week at Blair Range in Vancouver the team captured 18 trophies and awards in the B.C. Rifle Association matches. A second PPCLI rifle team, captained by WO2 Smoky Green, recently won the army's

Puck Bosses Pick Galt for Tourney

KITCHENER (CP) — Galt will not be settled for some time.

Terriers have been selected to represent Canada at the 1962 world hockey tournament in Colorado Springs, Colo., the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association announced today.

CAHA president Jack Roxburgh made the announcement following a meeting with representatives of the Terriers, 1961 Canadian senior hockey champions.

Terriers are tentatively scheduled to tour Canada and play exhibition games in the United States before proceeding to the world tournament. They will be about 35 days on the road.

ANNUAL MEETING

Music Festival Shows Profit

According to the balance sheet presented Wednesday night at the annual meeting of the Greater Victoria Music Festival Association, the 1961 festival operated with a comfortable margin of profit.

A cash balance on hand, of $663.86 was noted by Dr. J. F. K. English in giving the treasurer's report.

When first reorganized, 12 years ago, after lapsing during the war years, a sponsor was sought but eventually the festival decided to go it alone and has operated on the right side of the ledger ever since.

Some thousands of competitors were involved in this year's festival, there being 1,020 entries, including a high percentage of choral groups and school bands, orchestras and dance groups, reports revealed.

SALES UP

Membership and program sales were up this year, single door admissions, down slightly. Returned to a third year as president, Harry J. Bigsby, in his address commented on the value of the festival to the community and spoke of the promising outlook for next year.

Mrs. William Ellis, who has been actively associated with the festival throughout its course, including two years as president, was elected honorary president and presented with a gift on behalf of the board.

NAME OFFICERS

Officers elected unanimously were, Jack Hayes, first vice-president; Walter Kitley, second; Mrs. Mary Hunter, corresponding secretary; Miss Joyce Butler, recording; Mrs. J. F. K. English, festival secretary; Dr. English, treasurer. Directors are Dr. H. R. Anderson, Miss Nancy Ferguson, Mrs. G. W. Graham, Mrs. R. T. Kipling, Mrs. F. P. Levis, Mrs. Evelyn Johnson, Miss Utah Jacobson, Mrs. C. Perrins, Miss Lillian Smethurst, Mr. Lloyd Main, Mrs. H. P. HIGHWAY GAP IN B.C. ONLY

OTTAWA (CP). — The 4,876-mile Trans-Canada Highway now is open except for the 90-mile gap in the Rockies between Donald and Revelstoke in British Columbia, Works Minister Walker said Wednesday in the Commons.

He said that, given good construction weather, the Donald-Revelstoke section may be open to traffic this year though it will not be completed.

Student Bats Blast Treetop

Chinese Students sharpened their bats and chopped down Treetop Patrick in an exhibition softball game Wednesday night at Heywood Avenue Park.

Patrick, a six-eight pitcher with the touring Iowa Colored Cowboys, was blasted for four runs in the opening inning and the Students went on to chalk up a 9-7 victory. Patrick was relieved by Stubby Wilson during a three-run Student up-rising in the fourth frame.

Ralph Jay and Rod Turner combined to hold the Cowboys to nine hits, including a four-base wallop in the ninth by catcher Al Method.

No Progress Says Rusk

WASHINGTON (UPI). — Secretary of State Dean Rusk told a Senate group Wednesday he was "deeply discouraged" over the lack of progress in disarmament negotiations with Russia.

Rusk, testifying before a Senate appropriations subcommittee, was asked by chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.), if "we have made any tangible progress toward disarmament" in the present Geneva nuclear test ban meeting, or during the past five years or more of negotiations.

"No, not yet," Rusk replied.

LOVELY LOOK-ALIKES says one New York TV reviewer, are Canada's Joyce Davidson, left and Zsa Zsa Gabor. He had just seen Miss Davidson on the debut of a show called PM East and PM West in which she teams up with interviewer Mike Wallace. Show got mixed reception from most-reviewers. One said Joyce "twinkled with the steady, humorless vivacity of uninspired professional TV personalities."

'Soviet Will Not Remain Idle'

GENEVA (UPI)—Soviet ambassador Semyon K. Tsarapkin said today the United States would be taking "a grave responsibility" if it resumes nuclear testing, and the Soviet government "would not remain idle."

Tsarapkin told newsmen the demand to resume underground nuclear tests by Rep. Chet Holifield, chairman of the joint congressional atomic energy committee, was "very serious."

Holifield said Wednesday he hoped President Kennedy would order the resumption of tests "within a few weeks" on his demand while the Geneva talks continue.

STANDS FIRM

Tsarapkin refused to comment directly on whether the Soviet Union also would resume nuclear testing if the United States does. He said he stood by his old position.

In the past, the Soviets have said they might have to resume testing if the U.S. does. They have objected strongly to French testing, and said "it could make a nuclear test ban agreement impossible."

They have refused to regard "peaceful" nuclear research tests as anything else than a disguised military venture, without agreed-on safeguards.

At today's 319th, one-hour-and-15-minute meeting, U.S. negotiator Arthur H. Dean accused the Soviet Union of totally abandoning "serious negotiations around this table."

"The Soviet government is inflexibly determined that we shall not have one (a nuclear test ban treaty)," he said.

4 Die in Flames

MONTREAL (CP)—Four persons, one of them a child, were killed Wednesday and six others injured when fire swept through a four-storey building.

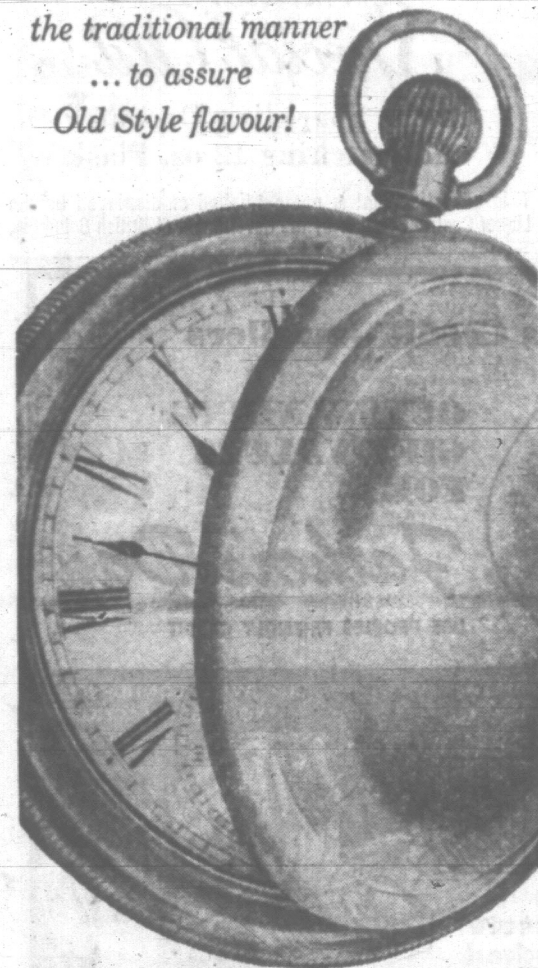

Children's Art on Show

Art Gallery of Greater Victoria on Tuesday opened its largest exhibition to date of children's paintings. The exhibits are the work of children aged from four to 15 done during the past nine months and will be on view until July 2.

The gallery is now accepting registration for its summer classes for children which starts July 10.

These include two weaving classes, one for eight to 11-year-olds, and one for 12 to 16-year-olds, to be taught by Miss Florence Daniels; and three painting classes.

Aged naturally in the traditional manner ... to assure Old Style flavour!

Old Style AGE

slower brewing is an Old Style tradition

Old Style is calmly brewed, with no concern for time. Faithful to our original recipe, carefully selected barley, hops and yeast are blended, brewed and, finally, put away to mature slowly in quiet ageing cellars. Brewed in this traditionally unhurried manner, Old Style's brilliant colour, fine flavour, and mellow taste mature naturally. Slower brewing is the reason so many people prefer Old Style.

B.C. Timber Cut Drops As 'Upswing' Misses

ISLAND DIGEST

BACKACHE May Be Warning

Backache is often caused by lax kidney action. When kidneys get out of order, excess acids and wastes remain in the system. Then backache, disturbed rest or that tired-out and heavy-headed feeling may soon follow. That's the time to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's stimulate the kidneys to normal action. Then you feel better—sleep better—work better. Get Dodd's Kidney Pills now.

B.C.'s timber cut for the first four months of the year plunged about 30 per cent as an expected spring upswing failed to boost the forest industry.

After a record cut in 1960, the industry began the year with heavily-stocked inventories and tough markets both at home and abroad.

The total timber scaled to the end of April was 443,434, 124 feet board measure, according to a report issued today by the B.C. government forest service.

At the same time in 1960, the total was 639,621,165. A government forestry official said that in 1960 the industry had perhaps been guilty of over-cutting.

STRIKE THREAT Reasons for this were that a big upswing was expected in markets this year, and perhaps the prospect of a strike threat among loggers.

Wet weather in the interior also held back the cut there this year.

So far neither strike nor upswing has occurred.

"There has been a tightening up in the lumber markets of the world," said a government spokesman.

BUILDING

At home, "there just isn't the building going on."

Total export figures are not available, although there has been a slight increase in the number of logs exported, which form only a small part of the overseas shipments.

They are up more than 2,000,000 from this year to a total of 18,769,588.

However, there are still hopes that the industry will pick up.

"We can't really tell until about the six-month period," said the B.C. forestry official.

Last Rites Held For Old Soldier

Private funeral services were held today for James P. Dunn, 88, an original member of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry in the First World War, who died Tuesday.

Born in Scotland, he lived in Edmonton prior to making his home on Woodlands Road, Sasson, 15 years ago.

During the Second World War he served with the RCAF. He was a member of the PPCLI Association and the Canadian Legion at Sooke.

Surviving are the widow, Janet Allison, at home; a son, James, in Sooke; one grandson, three brothers and two sisters.

Crane Operator Killed by Boom

LAKE COWICHAN—Daniel Vasile, crushed Monday under the boom of a shop crane he was operating, died an accidental death, a coroner's jury decided here Wednesday.

The 39-year-old Vancouver mechanic was employed at Camp 3 of Crown Zellerbach Canada Limited west of Cowichan Lake.

According to reports, he was lifting a load with the shop crane when a hook came loose, and one of his fellow workmen shouted "hold it a moment!"

LOOKED OUT

Vasile apparently "looked out of his cab to investigate, and as he did so he leaned against a control which permitted the boom to fall and crush him. He died within a few minutes. He is survived by the widow and six-year-old son at home on Dundas Street, in Vancouver.

DAMAGED HOSPITAL REPAIRED

CHEMAINUS — Repairs to Chemainus General Hospital, damaged by fire in April, likely will be completed next week, according to Barney Shaw, administrator.

The hospital board authorized expenditure of $13,330 for roof repairs, and in addition will redecorate the whole building. It is expected furniture will be returned to the upper story on the weekend.

Early Start On Chemainus Church Hall

CHEMAINUS—Work is expected to start early next month on a new hall to be built beside Chemainus United Church. It is expected today by Rev. D. C. Lewis.

Plans have been approved by North Cowichan council. The building will include a main hall, two classrooms, and ancillary accommodation, and will be used mainly by the Sunday school.

Funds to meet part of the cost will be raised by special visitations in the fall, Mr. Lewis said.

Mother Sees Son Drown

CAMPBELL RIVER—An inquiry will be held into the drowning Wednesday in Echo Lake of William Runacres, 17, who sank from sight while his mother watched helplessly from shore.

Lois Riley, 19, went to his aid, but gave up when she was pulled under by the victim and was in danger of drowning herself.

Keith McKillican, another swimmer, donned goggles and flippers for an underwater search, and found the body. Assisted by William Evans and Dan Willard, he brought it to shore.

NURSE AIDS

Mouth-to-mouth artificial respiration was applied by Barbara Graham, a Vancouver General Hospital nurse on holiday, and an inhalator crew from Campbell River continued, but the youth was pronounced dead on arrival at Campbell River General Hospital.

His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Runacres of Willow Point.

Echo Lake, a favorite swimming spot for young people of this area, is about 10 miles west of here.

Calf Destroyed After Barn Fire

SAANICHTON—A calf was destroyed Wednesday night after having been badly burned in a fire started by a heat lamp.

It occurred in a barn on the farm of E. von Kaldenburg, 10375 Wilson Road, where the calf was being treated by the lamp. Witnesses believe it was kicked over and broken, thus setting fire to some hay.

MARINE PLAN APPROVED

COMOX — Federal engineers have approved a marine basin and waterfront development plan to cost an estimated $350,000, and will recommend that it be included in estimates for 1962. It calls for a rock breakwater, deep-water basin, six mooring floats, access roads and a fill of 300 feet wide along the waterfront.

Junior Colleges Impossible Now

A lack of money for higher education in B.C. makes the development of junior colleges impossible for the present, Dr. N. A. M. MacKenzie said in his UBC president's annual report today.

There is not enough money to give the University of B.C. proper support to meet the needs of youth and of the country, yet some people and organizations in the larger centres advocate creation of junior colleges, he said.

"I can see no way of making adequate financial provision without increasing the shortage of operating revenue at UBC and Victoria College," the president said.

"Our sister institution has begun to offer courses at the third and fourth-year level and promises to become a first-rate liberal arts college."

"However, it will be some years before Victoria College will be in a position to offer graduate studies, and in the interval UBC will continue to be responsible for the total program of costly professional and graduate work."

DUPLICATION

Also, it would not be prudent to duplicate such facilities as medicine, forestry, pharmacy and law at other institutions before the campus at Point Grey has developed into a comprehensive university with all needed facilities, the president said.

The keynote of his report, covering the period July 1, 1959-June 30, 1961, is that the creation of graduate and professional schools second to none in North America is the "most essential need" at the University of B.C.

TEACHER ROLE

Without graduate studies the university is unable to supply the persons Canada's expanding economy will require, nor will the roles of teacher and researcher be filled properly.

But the cost of providing a great graduate centre, which will attract the best students from home and abroad, to give them modern laboratories and necessary apparatus, is enormous.

And there must be parallel development of the humane studies with these graduate facilities. With both there must be an outstanding library, a vital factor in determining the rate of development and academic excellence.

New Postings For Navy Men

Capt. L. L. Atwood, a former chief of staff to the flag officer, Pacific coast, has been appointed director of naval operations at headquarters in Ottawa, effective June 30.

His present post of director of naval intelligence will be taken by Capt. Robert W. Murdoch, a Victoria-born officer who last served on this coast in 1956, as commanding officer of HMCS Sioux.

Passenger In Taxi Wins Suit

Miss Violet Bramwell of 1151 West Burnside, Victoria, was awarded $1,500 general damages and $249 special damages in R.C. Supreme Court Wednesday for injuries sustained in a collision between a taxi and a private car.

Miss Bramwell was a passenger in the taxi when it was in collision with a private car at the corner of Belleville and Government Streets at 9 a.m. on July 12 last year.

She was treated at St. Joseph's Hospital for a face injury and shock.

Chief Justice Sherwood Lett found that the Quarter Cab Co. Ltd., 708 Johnson, and the driver of the taxi, Alexander Macmillan, were 80 per cent to blame for the accident, while the driver of the private car, Walter Timms of Port Alberni, was 20 per cent to blame.

Patrick Sinnott appeared for Miss Bramwell and Lloyd McKenzie, QC, for Mr. Timms.

Fund for Hoffa Asked

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two executive vice-presidents of the Teamsters Union have asked 3,000 local union officials to shell out $25 each for a fund to re-elect James R. Hoffa, Teamster president.

PARKING BAN APPROVED

A $180,000 Capital District Improvement Commission beautification project for the Douglas Street entrance appeared assured Wednesday night.

Moslems Stage Riot

ALGIERS (Reuters)—About 1,000 Algerian Moslems rioted in the working class suburb of Belcourt Wednesday, overturning cars and besieging the owners in offices.

Parking ban on Douglas, between Tolmie and the Trans-Canada Highway, was recommended to Saanich council by its public works committee.

Tuesday city council approved a similar ban on Douglas between the Fountain Circle and Tolmie.

Both municipalities previously balked at the no parking requirement laid down by CIDC before it would spend the money.

The Union of South Africa was proclaimed May 31, 1910, after the four regions—Cape Province, Natal, Transvaal and Orange Free State—had voted for unification.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Go Oriental in Comfort With Soft Plastic Zoris

By PENNY SAVER

Do you remember the rubber thonged sandals of last summer which seemed to cut between the toes? Well, there are better things promised for this beaching season. I discovered Japanese zoris in a store this morning made of a soft plastic.

Soles are still of a sturdy white rubber, but thong and sides are covered with "towel striped" plastic in colors of red, pale blue, green and the ever sophisticated black, on white background. Heel is styled with a slight wedge to fit the foot comfortably. Sandals are available in sizes 9 to 10½, at $1.98 a pair.

With the bare-legged look being cried from every fashion centre, we girls will want to keep legs smooth and fuzz-free, with no compromise! And what easier way to do so than with our very own ladies' electric shaver. While price tag in the past has tended to scare us away, shavers I found in this shop cost only $5. They are made in United States, and come in attractive shades of ivory, blue and pink.

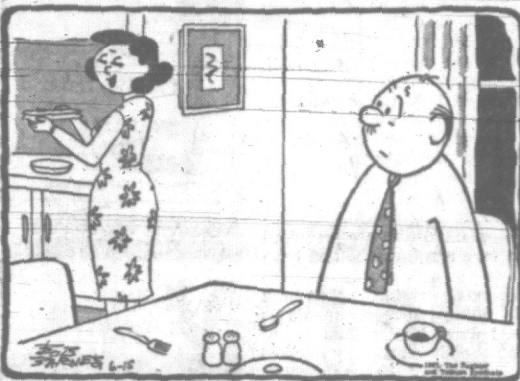

Having constant trouble with your cigaret lighter? It could be the blame should be placed on the flint. I had heard mention of a Victoria shop that carries "the only flints in the world" (as it was put to me). So I went looking and found that this is practically true. This shop is the only outlet in British Columbia for these metallic, American-made flints. And, as far as I am concerned, they are really good! Price is 25 cents per dozen.

Same shop is well stocked with every kind of lighter, but ones that caught my eye have tiny music boxes in the bottom that play automatically each time lighter is flicked on. Prices range from $4.50, the least expensive coming in gold color, and a veritable beauty in pale blue at $7.50.

If any of these items are "just what you've always wanted," give Penny a ring at EV 2-3131 and find out where she shopped.

THE BETTER HALF

Bendall-Church Wedding

A recent marriage of interest to many Victorians united Jean Marie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Church of North Vancouver, and Donald Martin Bendall, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bendall of 1418 Stanley Avenue, Victoria.

The bride entered Capilano United Church on the arm of her father. She wore a gown of floral embroidered lace over white satin with lily point sleeves. Shoulder-length veil was held by a multi-tiered nylon bow, and red roses and lily of the valley were in her bouquet.

Rev. Gordon McLaren officiated and Mrs. W. Burns was organist.

Miss Inga Metcalfe was bridesmaid in a gown of midnight blue crepe backed satin. Her colonial bouquet was of yellow marguerite daisies. Junior bridesmaid Miss Gail Fraser and flower girl Miss Linda Fraser, both cousins of the bride, wore yellow frocked nylon dresses and carried colonial bouquets of blue marguerite daisies.

Best man was W. J. Bendall.

DEAR ABBY

Forget It, Lady!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am disgusted with my husband because of a most irritating habit he has. He crumbles up crackers and puts them in his soup when we are out in company. I think crackers should be eaten with the soup, not in the soup.

Am I mistaken? Or is he? This has been going on for almost 40 years.

IRRITATED. DEAR ABBY: Cracker-eaters should be eaten with the soup—especially in public. But if this is his most irritating habit after 40 years, I would say you have a crackerjack marriage.

DEAR ABBY: I am a grand-mother who babysits for my grandchildren. I go any time they call me because I love the little ones. My son-in-law picks my husband and me up and takes us to his house to sit with the children, and as soon as they get home, they rush us home again. They are always in such a hurry. My husband and I hardly ever get to visit with our children because they never invite us to their home, except to baby-sit, and they never have time to come to our home. I wonder if other grandparents are treated the way we are?

JUST BABY-SITTERS. DEAR JUST: Many are—but they have only themselves to blame. He who allows himself to be used as a doorman should not complain when he is stepped on.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Steady Mom—He'll Be Back From First Camp

Thousands of children all over the country are getting ready to go to camp or soon will be preparing for this adventure.

I don't know whether the first camp is a greater adventure for the mother or the child. Any of you who have been through it know what I mean. No matter how carefully you investigate the camp to which your child is going you still are haunted with visions of a broken neck after a fall from a horse, drownings or a fatal bite from a snake. You never think of anything as simple as poison ivy! Most of all you wonder if he or she will be lonely. You know your child well enough to sense the dread as well as the anticipation in him. For the first time he will have to stand on his own feet and he will have to take the cruelties as well as the bonuses which are part of life. And you will not be there to console or encourage him or explain to him. You both will act very brave, and then after you leave him, you probably will cry a little bit.

Camp is a wonderful and valuable experience for a child. To learn to live in a small community and carry his weight as he will have to do in the world later on, to learn "give and take," to learn to co-operate with others, is fine training for future life. And, of course, the outdoor living is good for his health.

According to a survey among camp directors made by a national foot health organization, mothers pay too little attention to shoes when preparing their children's clothes for camp. They do not stint when it comes to throwing a couple of extra pairs of shorts or a few more T-shirts into the trunk. But camp officials report that many mothers send along only the youngster's current pair of shoes (often nearly outgrown) and a pair of sneakers—and that's all.

If you would like to have my leaflet, "Tricks in Camping," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 69. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Citizenship

Mrs. Edgar Jamieson took devotionals at meeting of Centennial United Church Women's Missionary Society when "Christian Citizenship" was theme. She was assisted by Mrs. E. Goddard.

Mrs. E. K. Vernon, a visitor from Lake Hill, outlined aims of "Voice of Women," and Mr. and Mrs. Jamieson spoke on their son Keith's reception in Angola. Reception recording was played on a tape recorder. Mrs. B. Barr and president Mrs. M. Waldern thanked the speakers.

Mrs. T. Hopkins described training school to be held first week of September at Shawnigan Lake. Course will include Bible study by Dr. S. Parsons and special instruction by conference branch president and missionary on furlough, Rev. Fred Anderson. Mrs. S. Parsons will be dean.

A special collection for the Alcohol Research and Education Council was taken.

Many thanks to the Patrons and Staff of B.C. FERRIES

The Honourable W. A. C. BENNETT Premier and Chairman of British Columbia Toll Highways and Bridges Authority

MONTY F. ALDOUS, General Manager, British Columbia Toll Authority Ferry System

One year ago today, the British Columbia Toll Authority Ferry System inaugurated a new passenger service between Victoria and the Lower Mainland to meet a twofold need—the urgent requirement of our own residents for a dependable, regular surface transportation link and the necessity for Government leadership in the development of our valuable visitor industry.

Your overwhelming support has fully justified our hopes for the success of the service. On this first anniversary, we extend to you, the travelling public, our thanks for your patronage; we offer our pledge of even finer service next year, when two new vessels will join the "B.C. Ferries" fleet.

Also at this time we wish to thank each and everyone of the staff of the Ferry System for their splendid efforts in helping to make this success possible.

Sincerely,

W. A. C. Bennett

Bride Designs and Makes Gown

Miss Annie Moller made an attractive bride when she exchanged vows with Patrick Knud Huus in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church recently. She wore a gown, headpiece and veil which she designed and made herself. Lace bodice of gown had a scalloped neckline and short sleeves while skirt of lustrous white bengaline billowed to floor length in soft pleats. Rose-patterned lace that formed the headpiece was repeated in appliques on the illusion net veil.

Red roses and lily of the valley were in her bouquet. Parents of the young couple are Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Moller of Naksoy, Denmark, and Mr. and Mrs. N. V. R. Huus, 1686 Ash Road, Victoria.

In the absence of the bride's parents, C. Boel gave Miss Moller in marriage and Mrs. Boel received guests at the reception which followed in the Flamingo Room of the Crystal Garden.

Spring flowers decorated the church for the ceremony at which Dr. J. L. W. McLean officiated. Organist was C. C. Warren.

Maid of honor, Miss Inge Larsen, chose a deep blue gown with matching headpiece. Pale pink gown with matching headpiece was worn by bridesmaid, Miss Shirley Nielsen, Vancouver. Petite flower girl, Julie Petersen, was in a lilac toned gown and headpiece. All carried yellow flowers.

John T. MacDonald, Vancouver, was best man and ushers were Ronald K. Latt and John Jameson, Vancouver.

HEIRLOOM SILVER

Century old Danish candlesticks in sterling silver flanked the three-tier wedding cake that centred the head table at the reception. The cake was made by the bride. Red roses and spring flowers completed decor.

John Kolvig proposed the toast to the bride's happiness. Among out-of-town guests was Mrs. George Nielsen, Osoyoos, B.C.

Leaving on a honeymoon by motor to up-Island points and to the mainland, the new bride donned a three-piece ensemble in apple green tones, complemented with white accessories. Her corsage was white roses.

Newlyweds are now making their home in Victoria.

ON BIRTHDAY

It was a day of excitement for Mrs. E. Cross on Wednesday when she celebrated her 82nd birthday in Mo. at St. Mary Hospital. She was the recipient of a 25-year pin of the Women's Auxiliary to the International Typographical Union, presentation being made by Mrs. Amy Milligan of the local auxiliary. Also present for the ceremony were Mrs. Mary Fawcett, president, and Mrs. Gladys Houghton.

Several members of Mrs. Cross's family were there to help celebrate her birthday and see the presentation. These included Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cross of Ladysmith, George Cross, Mrs. Sullivan and a niece, Mrs. Mary French.

Clubwomen's News

Committee Named—At recent meeting of the First United Church Central Women's Association, a provisional committee was elected to work on plans for the new organization, "Women of the Church," to be instituted in 1962. New Officers Elected During BPW Meeting

Miss Ruth Adams was elected president by acclamation at recent annual meeting of the Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club held in the clubrooms. Also elected by acclamation were: Mrs. Vera Wade, first vice-president; Mrs. Enid Webster, second vice-president; Miss Elizabeth Clement, recording secretary; Mrs. Sara Hamill, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Lillian Wright, treasurer.

Elected as directors were Mrs. Doris Ewar, Mrs. Madge Hall, Mrs. Bessie Marriott, Mrs. Margaret Rust and Miss Emily Warburton.

Reports from committee chairman showed affiliation with the United Nations, Local Council of Women, Council of Canadian Citizenship and Canadian Association of Consumers.

Mrs. Lillian Smith reported club's annual scholarship had been increased from $150 to $200. Scholarship is awarded to a leading girl student, majoring in commerce and planning to continue on university program. It was established in 1937 in memory of Miss Bay Wigley but is now known as the Victoria Business and Professional Women's Memorial Scholarship Fund, and is given in memory of all deceased members.

Meeting was chaired by president, Miss Ella Brett, and vote of thanks to the retiring executive was given by Miss Dorothy Crighton.

New officers will be installed by Mrs. Marguerite Laughlin at dinner meeting, June 26.

Enkin-Raels Vows in Synagogue

Marriage of Miss Pearl Ann Raels, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Raels of Victoria, and Melvyn Enkin, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Enkin of Vancouver, took place recently in Schara Tzedec Synagogue, Vancouver. Rabbi B. Goldenberg and Cantor A. Deutsch officiated.

The bride wore a full-length white organza gown with bustle skirt extending into a long train. Borders and panels of gown were appliqued with lace. Organza framed the crown holding her finger-tip veil. White heirloom prayer book she carried was topped with white orchids and stephanotis.

ATTENDANTS

Mrs. Mitchell Burnstein, the bride's sister, as matron of honor wore a champagne chiffon sheath with lace peplum. Bridesmaids, Miss Harriet Enkin, groom's sister, Miss Corinne Israel, bride's cousin, and Miss Bess Segal were all gowned in lilac chiffon afternoon dresses with matching headpieces. Yellow organza frocks were chosen for the flower girls Jacki-Lynn and Robbi-Anne Bloomfield, cousins of the groom.

White dinner jackets were worn by the groom and best man, Abe Batt and the ushers Harvey Gooler, Sanford Gorney and Stanley Garfinkle.

Bride's mother chose a mauve chiffon over-lace afternoon sheath dress for the occasion. An afternoon dress in shades of rose chantilly lace was worn by the groom's mother.

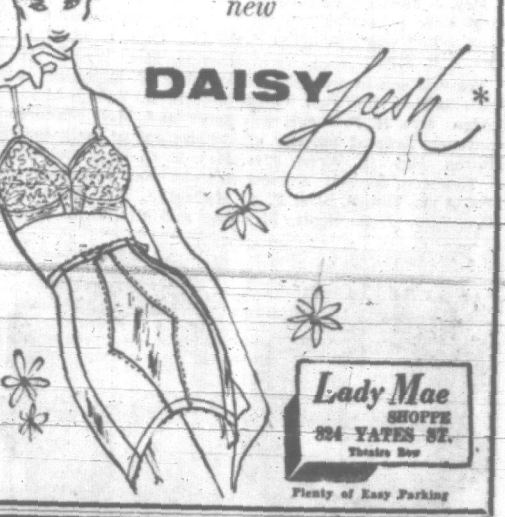

At a dinner and dance in the reception hall at the Synagogue following the wedding, George Levine, Edmonton, was master of ceremonies. Out-of-town relatives of the bride couple at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Samuels, Mr. and Mrs. G. Levine, Mr. and Mrs. D. Wiseman, Mr. and Mrs. L. Wiseman, Mrs. J. Shekter, all of Edmonton; Mr. and Mrs. P. Shulbaum, Winnipeg; Mr. and Mrs. J. Sherman of Toronto; Mr. Sam Enkin, Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. L. Bloomfield and family of Courtenay; Mr. and Mrs. H. Israel and daughter of Victoria, and Mr. and Mrs. H. Fields of Seattle.

Dogwood Fete and Tea Makes Sum of $1,230

Brilliant sunlight and deep cool shade under oak trees on the hospital lawn, created a perfect setting for Dogwood Fete and Tea held Wednesday afternoon under the auspices of the Women's Auxiliary to Veterans' Hospital. A sum of $1,230 was realized.

Brig. J. S. Adam, introduced by auxiliary president, Mrs. C. W. McCarthy, opened the fete. Band of the Royal Canadian Engineers played in front of the main hospital entrance throughout the afternoon. An informal showing of millinery for summer and early autumn was presented by Miss Frith Hat Shop with the models, Mrs. F. G. Homer, Mrs. Phil Lee, Mrs. E. Allbutt, Mrs. R. Clarke, Mrs. E. Allbutt and her granddaughter, Miss Fern Adam. Commentator was W. Sinclair.

Mrs. J. Merrill's performing dogs were presented and fortune telling was conducted by Mrs. J. R. Piper.

Tea was served on a shaded lawn behind the Red Cross Lodge. Mrs. H. F. Jarvis was convener, assisted by Mrs. C. Hutton, Mrs. G. Wren, Mrs. J. Thomson, Mrs. H. Finbow, Mrs. A. R. Minnis, Mrs. P. A. Hole, Mrs. J. R. Scott, Mrs.

S. G. Randall, Mrs. G. R. Fleming and Mrs. A. N. Boyd. Stalls were manned as follows: Old Curiosity Shop, Mrs. A. S. Averill, Mrs. L. Roberts and Mrs. J. Adam; home cooking, Mrs. W. Penhallurick, Mrs. M. Horan, Mrs. R. Jeeves, Mrs. L. Davis and Mrs. Wetherall; delicatessen, Mrs. W. R. Russell, Mrs. A. Kent, Mrs. Cloke and Mrs. H. Kemshaw.

Candy, Mrs. H. Beacroft; Mrs. R. D. Mayhew and Mrs. J. Campbell; flowers, Mrs. J. R. L. Burridge and Mrs. B. Ross; dogwood pins, Mrs. F. T. Sehl and Mrs. Gordon Woodhouse; books, Mrs. M. A. Nal-smith; children's corner, Mrs. J. W. Van Norman; cook books, Mrs. D. Jewell; checking, Mrs. P. Hole. Co-ordinator of all stalls was Mrs. E. Vant.

Tea tickets were in charge of Mrs. G. E. Lane, Mrs. C. H. Davies, Mrs. W. M. Halliday and Mrs. C. E. Smith; raffles, Mrs. E. A. Young, Mrs. J. R. Scott and Mrs. Standerwick; decorations of main tea table, Mrs. E. G. Hart and administration and publicity, Mrs. McCarthy, Mrs. Homer, Mrs. Lee and Mrs. J. M. Harvey.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Sims, 2834 Adelaide Avenue, announce the engagement of their daughter, Joan Elizabeth, to Mr. David A. Hanson, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Hanson, 1905 Mayfair Drive. The wedding will take place on Friday, June 30 at 8 p.m., in St. Mary's Anglican Church, Oak Bay, with Canon H. J. Jones officiating. Senior attendants will be Mrs. Myron Barge, Miss Eileen Boychuk and Miss Deanna Pizag, and the flower girl, Vicki Barge. Mr. Sydney Jones will be best man, and the ushers Mr. Myron Barge and Mr. Don Sims. (Photo by Jus-Rile Studio.)

Parties for Miss Thom

Bride-elect, Miss Barbara Thom, was honored at a shower in the home of Mrs. Alan Jones following recent meeting of the Grace James Mission Circle. Decorated basket contained gifts. Corsages were presented to the guest of honor and to her mother, Mrs. J. Thom. Games were played and refreshments served.

Also present were Mrs. J. Edge, Mrs. W. Edge, Mrs. G. Beacroft, Mrs. G. Kent, Mrs. M. Grant and the Misses Merry Martin, Sharon Cat, Ellen Roper, Dianne Pryznik, Lorna Stuart and Joan Sauder.

Mrs. G. Beacroft and Mrs. W. Edge were co-hostesses at another shower given in the Edge home on Carey Road. Pink carnations in corsage were presented to the guest of honor, her mother, and grandmother, Mrs. J. Edge.

Present were Mrs. D. Dunagan, Mrs. M. Grant, Mrs. Dave Thom, Mrs. G. Hartley,

Mrs. D. Huck, Mrs. G. Hancock, Mrs. G. Kent, Mrs. A. Smith, Mrs. T. Mitchell, Mrs. H. Beacroft, Mrs. G. Askey, Mrs. H. Sauder, Mrs. Burt Youell, Mrs. Barry Youell, Mrs. R. Youell, Mrs. T. Newlyweds Now Living in Prince George

Now living in Prince George are Mr. and Mrs. John James Mather, whose marriage took place recently in Lake Cowichan United Church. Rev. T. Bulman officiated at the double-ring ceremony. Groom is a staff member of the Toronto-Dominion Bank at Prince George.

Parents of the young couple are Mr. and Mrs. George Majer of Lake Cowichan and Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Mather, 5287 Pat Bay Highway. Mr. Majer gave his daughter in marriage.

WHITE ORGANZA

The bride, the former Margaret Isabelle Majer, wore a floor-length gown of white organza over net and tulle. It was styled with bouffant lace-trimmed skirt, sweetheart neckline and with sequins edging the lace yoke of the bodice and lily points of the sleeves. Sequins also highlighted a coronet that held the fingertip length veil. Pearl-trimmed leaves were in the bouquet of mauve orchids and white stephanotis. Only jewelry was a pearl and diamond drop necklace, gift of the groom.

Identical ballerina-length gowns of crystal-embroidered matching bow headpieces were chosen by the four attendants: Maid of honor, Miss Shirley Woodward; bridesmaid, Miss Andrea Lingren, Cayce Camp, and junior bridesmaids, Miss Barbara Majer, the bride's sister, and Miss Ann Mather sister of the groom. Senior attendants' gowns were in old rose while junior bridesmaids wore shell pink. All carried sheaf bouquets of white carnations, tied with pink ribbons, and wore pearl necklaces, gift of the groom.

Derek Gaye was best man and ushers were Irvin Ross, Duncan, and Sodi Berar, Lake Cowichan.

Flowers in mauve and yellow tones, arranged by Mrs. K. Johnson, Lake Cowichan, decorated the church. Mrs. W.

Beach Improvements Nearly Completed

Work on parking and beautification projects at Oak Bay Boathouse is nearing completion, municipal engineer Geoffrey White reported today.

The municipality has spent $16,000 on an improvement program designed and carried out by the works department to increase parking facilities for boat owners, renew boulevard and sidewalk, install flower beds and erect a rock retaining wall on the beach north of the boathouse.

New lawn areas have been seeded and three small flower beds installed, both serviced by an automatic sprinkling system yet to be made fully operational.

The parking area south of the boathouse provides room for 70 cars and there are about 10 spaces for cars with boat trailers. The area will be screened from the street by shrubs.

Considerable rock fill was used to level off a small rocky inlet making the parking area more practical.

More improvements are planned for the future.

ISLAND MAN CHIEF DESIGNER

Canadian Satellite Tested

WALLOPS ISLAND, Va. (Cp)—Canada has taken a major step towards successful completion of its first satellite with the space testing of the unique model of the satellite's antennae, longest in the Western world.

U.S. ROCKET USED

Fired into space Wednesday night in the nose cone of a four-stage United States Javelin rocket, the 62-pound Canadian payload consisted mainly of two rolled steel tapes that unfurled on radio command, stiffened into a semi-tubular shape and extended a distance of 73 feet on each side of the instrumented package.

All this time the payload, shot 561 miles above the earth, was spinning at a speed of up to 650 revolutions a minute.

SPACE STABILIZED

This experiment was necessary because the Canadian satellite to be shot into space from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., early next year, will be stabilized in space by a spinning technique.

The satellite, a joint Canadian-U.S. project, will investigate the upper layers of the ionosphere. The rocket will be American; the satellite Canadian.

SHOT SUCCESSFUL

Designing and preparing the antennae model represented a year's effort and a team of Canadian scientists and technicians here breathed a sigh of relief as the telemetry transmitter signalled a successful shot.

QUITE SATISFIED

John Mar of Port Alberni, B.C., one of the chief designers, said all of the telemetry data had not yet been read but he was quite satisfied with the operation. He described the antennae as the longest ever designed for a space shoot.

Mar, an official of de Havilland Aircraft of Canada Limited, has been working at Ottawa in co-operation with the Canadian government's defence research telecommunications establishment.

One of the first automobile rear stop-lights appeared on a McLaughlin-Buick built at Oshawa, Ont., in 1921.

BCE Asked To Reveal Share Costs

Opposition Leader Robert Strachan today challenged the B.C. Electric to disclose what it paid the Wenner-Gren interests for more than 1,000,000 shares it has acquired in the Peace River power project.

"They should tell us what they paid for these shares," he said. "I should also be interested to know just how much Gore and Wenner-Gren have made out of this."

The annual report of the Peace River Power Development Co. showed that a wholly-owned B.C. Electric subsidiary last year received 1,352,514 Peace shares transferred from the Wenner-Gren B.C. Development Co.

It also got another 250,000 shares from Bernard Gore, a Peace director who is also president of the Pacific Northern Railway.

"CAN'T LOSE"

The B.C. Electric subsidiary, Western Development & Power, Ltd., now holds one-fifth, or 2,486,514, of the total shares issued in the Peace River hydro venture.

"No matter what happens, the B.C. Electric can't lose," commented Mr. Strachan.

"Even if the Peace deal never went ahead, the cost of the shares would be charged to and paid for by the shareholders of the B.C. Electric."

Mr. Strachan said Swedish financier Axel Wenner-Gren, the man who originated the Peace River scheme, and Mr. Gore, are "essentially promoters."

He said it was likely that through their share sales they had at least ensured they would recoup their investments in the scheme.

Work Starting On Labor Hall

Preliminary work on foundations for a new labor headquarters at Quadra and Market has begun.

Workmen are preparing the site in hope of a start on actual construction of the $150,000 building by fall.

Meanwhile, Victoria Building Co-operative Union, made up of organized labor in the area, is into the second stage of a $50,000 building campaign, the sum required before construction starts in earnest.

Diving Ban Urged

VANCOUVER (Cp)—The B.C. Council of Diving Clubs Wednesday urged that no one under the age of 16 be permitted to take part in scuba diving, and that all scuba divers be required to obtain medical certificates showing that they are fit.

Sun-up prices are down down down

Now enjoy Sun-up for less than 3¢ a juice glass!

Sun-up prices are lower than ever . . . in spite of new high prices on many other breakfast drinks. The reason—Sun-up is growing in popularity. And all it takes is one glass to see why!

Sun-up is delicious . . . especially ice cold. Sun-up's flavour gets bolder as it gets colder.

Sun-up is nutritious . . . Sun-up gives both vitamins C and A to help maintain the whole family's good health . . . provides the Vitamin C our bodies cannot store, yet need daily!

Treat your family to Sun-up at breakfast or as a wholesome refresher through the day. Start tomorrow and save 15¢ on the 14-ounce jar, or 5¢ on the 7-ounce jar!

Coyne Affair Just One of Major Moves at Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—Much of what lies ahead in Canadian politics will be dated from the hectic parliamentary events of Tuesday, June 14.

Here was the Commons spending almost an entire sitting day on political acrimony surrounding the government's plan to force by legislation the resignation of James E. Coyne, governor of the Bank of Canada.

Here, too, was Finance Minister Fleming's clear indication that the government is turning to expansionist economic policies—which he said is at the root of the rift between the Conservative administration and the bank's "restrictionist"

governor—in a budget to be presented next Tuesday night.

Into this eventful skirmish, unannounced, came a Senate manpower committee report urging an overhaul of the Bank of Canada and closer integration of its policies with those of the finance department.

Meanwhile, the Liberal majority in the Senate carried out its threat and on a 37-to-21 vote deleted a key point in the government's "class or kind" tariff bill—arbitrary ministerial power to make certain decisions not subject to appeal.

There were indications in the Senate of possible non-partisan attempts to amend another major government bill—the one defining two types of murder and decreeing the death penalty for only premeditated slayings or those associated with crimes of violence.

In the Commons, there was another major announcement—one by Justice Minister Fulton that public hearings will be held into distribution and sales of pharmaceutical drugs and auto supplies.

The Senate's vote on the tariff bill amendment was followed by final approval of the amended bill. This action automatically sends the bill back to the Commons where the original version was previously passed by the huge Progressive Conservative majority.

The government measure was designed to provide stronger tariff protection for certain Canadian-manufactured goods, mainly machinery, where present law provides two tariff rates—a high duty for goods "of a class or kind made in Canada" and a low rate for others.

The government can either accept the Senate amendment—a move informed sources say is unlikely—or rip it out and send the original bill back to the Senate.

Should the Senate stick to its own version, the only way of settling such a dispute is through a so-called "free committee" with three members delegated by each house to negotiate a compromise. If that doesn't work, the bill could be washed out. (Continued on Page 2)

Tax Penalty On Ads Urged

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's royal commission on publications recommended today that domestic advertising placed in foreign magazines be stripped of its status as a legitimate business expense—in effect doubling the cost to the advertiser.

In a report tabled in the Commons by Prime Minister Diefenbaker, the three-man commission called as well for action under custom tariff law to bar from Canada all periodicals printed outside the country that contain Canadian domestic advertising.

The commission described the recommended steps as the most direct and effective methods of ending diversion of Canadian domestic advertising to U.S.-owned publications—and noted forcefully that survival of the handful of Canadian consumer magazines depends on advertising lifeblood.

Chairman M. Grattan O'Leary and fellow commissioners George Johnston and Claude P. Beaubien said in their 25,000-word report "it must be clearly understood" that they were recommending nothing which in any way might obstruct entry to Canada of foreign periodicals not carrying Canadian advertising directed primarily at the Canadian market.

The proposal that tax deductions be disallowed on Canadian advertising placed in foreign publications is aimed primarily at the Canadian editions of Time and Reader's Digest—a combination that has been picking up some 40 per cent of all magazine advertising in Canada.

In tabling the report Mr. Diefenbaker told the Commons the government is giving it careful consideration in the light of the government's objective "to foster a sound and strong Canadianism." He praised the commission members for working with commendable zeal.

"The result of non-deductibility would be approximately to double the cost of domestic advertising in a foreign periodical wherever printed," the report said.

The proposal to close Canada's borders to foreign magazines carrying domestic Canadian advertising is aimed at halting the growing practice by which American magazines allow the substitution of ads aimed at Canadian readers for part of their press run.

The commission's sole aim is to prevent the placement of Canadian domestic advertising in foreign periodicals available in Canada and to discourage the use of second-hand editorial material as an enticement for advertising," the report said.

"These practices must be stopped; stopped effectively and permanently. Involved is the question of whether or not

No Fiscal Policy Laid Down

OTTAWA (CP)—Governor James E. Coyne of the Bank of Canada said today, in effect, that the government—not himself—has been restricting economic growth in Canada by lack of adequate policies.

Mr. Coyne, in a statement replying to the Finance Minister Fleming's Commons criticisms of him Wednesday, said Canada's economic troubles have not been in the field of monetary policy—the Bank of Canada's field.

"What has been lacking so far is adequate action in the field of fiscal policy to make a real contribution to economic recovery and the growth of the Canadian economy under Canadian ownership and control."

"In this respect Mr. Fleming revealed today an Opposition request that the government now has been suddenly converted."

Meanwhile, Mr. Fleming rejected today an Opposition request that the government legislation to dismiss Mr. Coyne be introduced before Tuesday night's budget.

Opposition Leader Pearson made the request, in the Commons, referring to Mr. Fleming's statement Wednesday that legislative action would be taken in view of Mr. Coyne's refusal to resign.

Mr. Fleming said he sees no reason why the legislation should precede the budget. He said the Opposition had been "screaming" for the budget to be brought down. Now it wanted a step that could have the effect of postponing the budget.

Mr. Pearson said the reply was "both irrelevant and offensive."

"It was not meant to be irrelevant," Mr. Fleming said pointedly.

Mr. Coyne issued his statement today in the form of a comment on Wednesday's report by the Senate committee on manpower.

But most of the statement was a strongly-worded reply to Mr. Fleming, who accused Mr. Coyne of "restrictionist" policies and said the 50-year-old

'Negotiate Now or Face Blockade'

BERLIN (UPI)—East German chief of state Walter Ulbricht warned the Western allies today to negotiate with his government on use of the routes to Berlin or face "interruptions."

He told a news conference once a peace treaty is signed, East Germany will get "complete control of all land, water and air traffic" running through the Soviet zone to Berlin.

He said the United States, Britain and France would have to sign agreements with East Germany to supply their garrisons in West Berlin and use the vital air routes.

BEGIN NOW
"Negotiations on use of the routes should begin immediately," he said. "The sooner they start the sooner agreement will be reached and there will be no interruptions of traffic. Those who do not want interruptions should be for negotiations."

"We do not want to interrupt air traffic," he said.
"All we want is a new agreement on the air traffic. Those who oppose an agreement will be the disturbers of air traffic."
He hinted that when a peace treaty is signed the Soviets will leave the four-power Berlin air safety centre and air traffic will be endangered.
Ulbricht demanded that West Berlin be made a free city as the Soviets propose.

Home Scorns Troika Plan

AMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI)—British Foreign Secretary Lord Home today called Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's troika scheme for dividing control of world organizations "the most sterile and bankrupt doctrine that has ever been advanced."

Addressing the Harvard University Alumni Association, Home said Khrushchev's proposal, if accepted, would mean "the end of the United Nations as we know it today."

New Offer By Castro On Tractors

(Times News Service)
HAVANA—Four American farm experts left for Miami today with Premier Fidel Castro's new proposal for exchanging 1,173 captured Cuban invaders for some $28,000,000 worth of tractors.

Castro's new approach to the tractors-for-prisoners deal could bring him as many as 10,000 light farm tractors.

MADE NO COMMITMENTS
The American group made no commitments and intended to lay the request before the tractors-for-freedom committee headed by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Castro placed increasing emphasis on his alternate plan to exchange captive invaders for "political prisoners" of the United States, Spain, Guatemala and Nicaragua.

Meanwhile Kennedy administration officials were said in Washington today to believe the tractors-for-prisoners exchange—whether it succeeds or fails—may save the lives of 1,200 Cuban expatriates captured in the April invasion.

TV Networks Urge Violence, Sex on Shows

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A Hollywood producer testified today that officials of two television networks instructed him to spice up his shows with more violence and sex.

The producer, Ivan Tors of Ziv Investigative Arts, read to Senate investigators a letter in which the National Broadcasting System expressed "concern over the absence of sex" in seven TV productions he had sold the network.

He also told the senate juvenile delinquency subcommittee that officials of the Columbia Broadcasting Co. let it be known that injections of "youth and crime" might improve the ratings of "The Aquanauts," which Tors described as a wholesome hour-long program of underwater feats.

LOST INTEREST

Tors said he lost interest in "The Aquanauts" because CBS had reversed its "good intentions." The program's name later was changed to "Malibu Run" under a new producer.

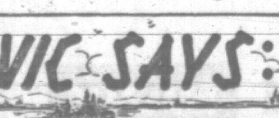

After this incident, Tors testified, he insisted on a clause in his contract permitting him to pull out of productions that "adversely influence youth."

Tors also told of a run-in with NBC over the content of "Man and the Challenge," a program relating how a doctor prepares people for survival in situations such as space flight.

After turning out six episodes, Tors testified, an advertising agency executive told him the "price" of obtaining prime network viewing time was "a great deal of sex and violence in the show."

O'LEARY
... report tabled

MAIN POINTS

Removal of deduction from income tax of expenditures incurred for advertising directed at the Canadian market in a foreign periodical, wherever printed—in effect doubling the cost of advertising.

Ban on entry into Canada of a periodical containing Canadian domestic advertising.

Strict enforcement of Canadian legislation against illegal or fraudulent claims contained in "overflow" advertising in foreign periodicals.

Repeal of a tariff item which facilitates entry into Canada of periodical promotional material printed abroad.

Use of business reply cards and envelopes by foreign periodicals only when accompanying promotional material is prepared and mailed in Canada.

No action which might in any way obstruct entry into Canada of foreign periodicals not carrying Canadian advertising aimed directly at the Canadian market.

Compensation from the U.S. to offset Canadian post office losses in carrying periodicals from that country as second-class mail.

Prohibition under the Combines Act of combined advertising rates offered by a Canadian publisher in English and French editions of a periodical.

Requirement that publishers label clearly as "advertisement" any paid editorial or reading matter in periodicals entered as second-class mail.

Canadian Publishers Hail Report

OTTAWA (UPI)—Canada's magazine industry today welcomed the O'Leary royal commission report as an "excellent" document whose recommendations should permit expansion of this country's periodical press.

"This report should create a climate in which new Canadian magazines can be started," Maclean-Hunter Publishing Company president Floyd S. Chalmers told newsmen. "It's an excellent report."

"The commission has done a wonderful job," added C. J. Laurin, president of the Canadian Periodical Press Association. "I'd say the chances of the government implementing these recommendations are excellent."

TRADE POSITION ANALYZED

One of the most important questions facing Canada today concerns the effect on our trade if Britain enters the European trading bloc. The likelihood of this vital development, and Ottawa's failure so far to cope with it, is analyzed on Page 4 today in the first of four articles by Bruce Hutchison.

HAVANA (CP)—Fidel Castro's government accused the United States today of repeated violation of Cuban airspace and said a note of protest is being sent via the Czechoslovak Embassy to Washington.

Envoy's Car Burns

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Several hundred pro-Castro students burned U.S. Ambassador Todor Moscoso's automobile Wednesday night at Caracas University while he was attending an exhibit.

Cease-Fire Extended

PARIS (Reuters)—The French government today decided to extend its unilateral cease-fire in Algeria beyond the original one-month period due to have ended next Tuesday.

The decision was made at a cabinet meeting presided over by President de Gaulle. It came after France broke off peace talks with rebels Tuesday at Evian, France.

QUEEN ESCAPES INJURY AS HORSE CUTS CAPERS

LONDON (AP)—The Queen narrowly escaped injury from a terrified horse in the crowded paddock at Ascot race course Wednesday.

Just as the Queen entered the paddock with her husband, Prince Philip, a big horse began bucking. A flying hoof knocked over a stable boy. Handlers grabbed for the horse's reins, but the frightened animal whirled and bucked around the paddock and headed in the direction of the Queen.

With regal poise, the Queen stood stock still. The animal swerved to one side and a jockey grabbed its bridle.

New Consumer Financing Plan

By GORDON BELL
Times Business Editor

Fast-growing Coronation Credit Corp. Ltd., an offshoot of Peter Paul Saunders' Imperial Investments organization, is out for a bigger chunk of Canadian second mortgage business.

According to J. H. Malo, manager of the local branch, Coronation Mortgage Co. is putting into operation a plan whereby Victorians can use second mortgages as a medium for budgeting autos and other high-inflation purchases over five to 10-year periods.

Planning to take some of the bad odor out of the second mortgage business, according to Mr. Malo, Coronation will offer a "clean, straight-forward deal at rates competitive with those of other forms of financing. We want no part of high-risk, high interest deals; we will loan only to good credit risks with good collateral."

Big feature, of course, is the length of term. In the conventional consumer financing deal the maximum term is three years. Fi-ancing a $2,000 boat, for instance, would require monthly payments of about $66 over this term.

Under new policy announced last week the TSE will designate as "non-exempt" listing mining or oil companies when they change the direction of their activity. This will mean they must apply to the TSE for approval of a filing statement giving full details of the change.

If the application is approved, the stock will retain its listing as a mining or oil company.

However, if the main business changes from mining or oil only share outstanding and shares subject to issuance for a specific purpose remain listed. Any new financing would have to be undertaken under new prospectus.

Shares of any new company which is in a transition period between different fields will be designated by the TSE as "Transition Period" shares.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Banks Lead Upswing In Toronto Trading

By GORDON BELL

Financial institutions displayed strength on the Toronto stock market today as investors advanced.

Bank of Montreal, Toronto-Dominion and Industrial Acceptance Corporation were all up. Steels and papers were also strong.

Backtracking from an early rise prices on the New York market turned mixed. Trading was slow.

International Business Machines had a gain of six points. Boeing was up about a point.

AT TORONTO pipe lines and refining oils contributed to the general rise, with Interprovincial, Texaco, B.A. Imperial and Trans Mountain all ahead.

The base metals remained high. In light western oil trading, Calgary and Edmonton fell appreciably, while Bailey Selburn A and Hudson's Bay were up slightly.

AT NEW YORK Aluminum gained 1/2 and Hudson Bay added a point among Canadian issues listed. Other gainers were International Nickel, up 1/4; Canadian Pacific, 1/2; and Wabash, 1/2.

American stock exchange prices were irregular. Brazilian Traction and Shawinigan were up 1/2 apiece on the Canadian list.

AT MONTREAL papers and industrials led stocks higher in moderately active trading on the stock exchange today.

AT LONDON many early gains were lost today as stock prices took a downturn. British funds reacted and dollar stocks were again lower. Steels were depressed throughout and papers were irregular.

Oils were mixed but coppers held quietly steady.

AT VANCOUVER, mines were active during the morning. Oils were quiet and industrials spotty. Fort St. John was at $1.55. Bethlehem Copper traded at $1.17. Kamloops Copper went to 15 1/2. Friday Nickel was down to 58. Grandview moved between $3.30 and $3.40. Trojan sold at 16. Imperial Investment went at $19. Dominion Tar sold at $18. MacMillan-Bloedel was up to $16 1/2.

TODAY'S GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP) — Grain prices generally showed a firm undertone in moderately active trading on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today. The warm, dry weather affected prices.

Overnight export loadings of Canadian wheat: China 1,640,000 bushels, Russia 500,000 bushels, the United Kingdom 210,000 bushels, small lots to Austria, France, Belgium, Germany and Hong Kong.

Lakehead prices for class two, IWA and domestic wheat were all up 1/2 from yesterday.

SUDDEN CHANGE IN POLICY COYNE ACCUSES GOV'T

BANK RATE IN SHARP DIP

OTTAWA (CP)—The Bank of Canada interest rate broke sharply this week to its lowest point since last October, falling to 2.85 per cent from 3.30 last week with the sale of $95,000,000 in 91-day government treasury bills.

PUBLICATIONS PROBE

Curbs Would Aid Periodicals

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's royal commission on publications recommended today that domestic advertising placed in foreign magazines be stripped of its status as a legitimate business expense—in effect doubling the cost to the advertiser.

MAIN POINTS

Removal of deduction from income tax of expenditures incurred for advertising directed at the Canadian market in a foreign periodical, wherever printed—in effect doubling the cost of advertising.

Ban on entry into Canada of a periodical containing Canadian domestic advertising.

Strict enforcement of Canadian legislation against illegal or fraudulent claims contained in "overflow" advertising in foreign periodicals.

Repeal of a tariff item which facilitates entry into Canada of periodical promotional material printed abroad.

Use of business reply cards and envelopes by foreign periodicals only when accompanying promotional material is prepared and mailed in Canada.

No action which might in any way obstruct entry into Canada of foreign periodicals not carrying Canadian advertising aimed directly at the Canadian market.

Compensation from the U.S. to offset Canadian post office losses in carrying periodicals from that country as second-class mail.

Prohibition under the Combines Act of combined advertising rates offered by a Canadian publisher in English and French editions of a periodical.

Requirement that publishers label clearly as "advertisement" any paid editorial or reading matter in periodicals entered as second-class mail.

RACING—PAGES 2, 14

In a report tabled in the Commons by Prime Minister Diefenbaker, the three-man commission called as well for action under custom tariff law to bar from Canada all periodicals printed outside the country that contain Canadian domestic advertising.

The commission described the recommended steps as the most direct and effective methods of ending diversion of Canadian domestic advertising to U.S.-owned publications—and noted forcefully that survival of the handful of Canadian consumer magazines depends on advertising lifeblood.

Chairman M. Grattan O'Leary and fellow commissioners George Johnston and Claude P. Beaubien said in their 25,000-word report "it must be clearly understood" that they were recommending nothing which in any way might obstruct entry to Canada of foreign periodicals not carrying Canadian advertising directed primarily at the Canadian market.

AIM AT TIME

The proposal that tax deductions be disallowed on Canadian advertising placed in foreign publications is aimed primarily at the Canadian editions of Time and Reader's Digest—a combination that has been picking up some 40 per cent of all magazine advertising in Canada.

In tabling the report Mr. Diefenbaker told the Commons the government is giving it careful consideration in the light of the government's objective "to foster a sound and strong Canadianism." He praised the commission members for working with commendatory zeal.

"The result of non-deductibility would be approximately to double the cost of domestic advertising in a foreign periodical wherever printed," the report said.

SECOND-HAND LURE

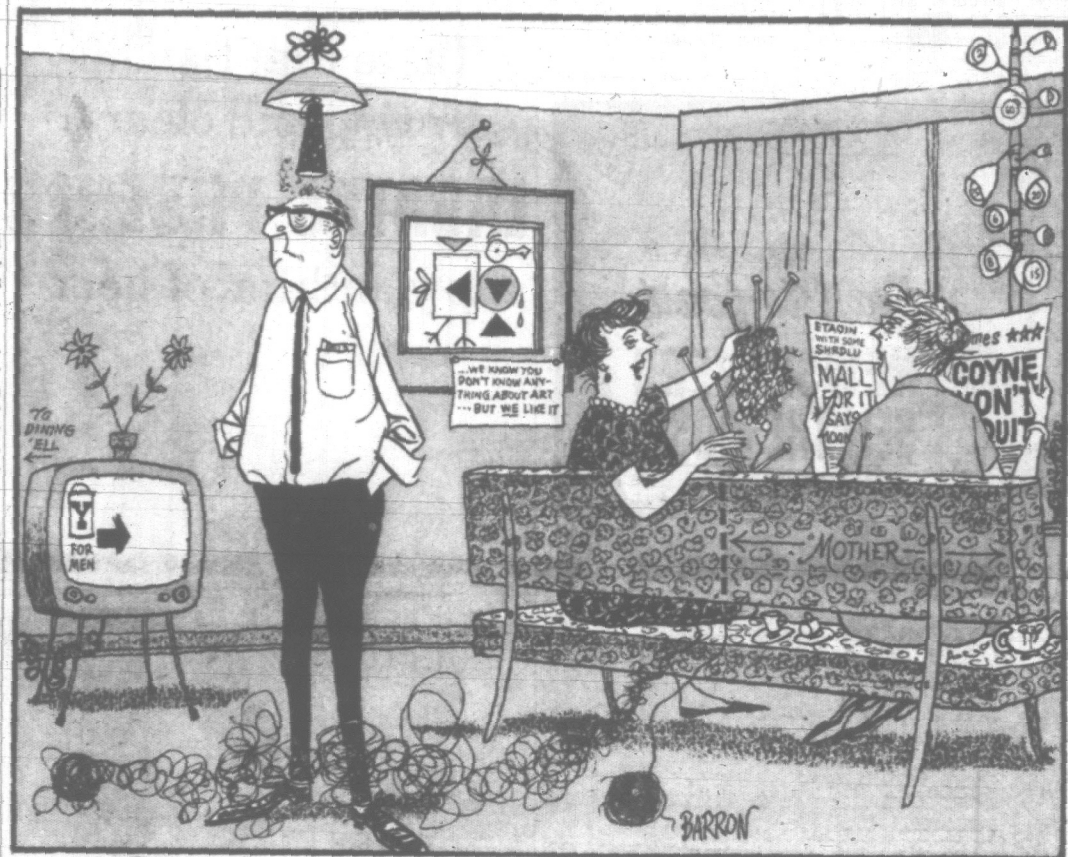

"The commission's sole aim is to prevent the placement of Canadian domestic advertising in foreign periodicals—available in Canada and to discourage the use of second-hand editorial material as an enticement for advertising," the report said.

"These practices must be stopped, stopped effectively and permanently. Involved is the question of whether or not."

Europe Peace Essential Now

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Khrushchev said tonight that "a peace settlement in Europe must be accomplished this year."

'Negotiate Now or Face Blockade'

BERLIN (UPI)—East German chief of state Walter Ulbricht warned the Western allies today to negotiate with his government on use of the routes to Berlin or face "interruptions."

He told a news conference once a peace treaty is signed, East Germany will get "complete control of all land, water and air traffic" running through the Soviet zone to Berlin.

He said the United States, Britain and France would have to sign agreements with East Germany to supply their garrisons in West Berlin and use the vital air routes.

"Negotiations on use of the routes should begin immediately," he said. "The sooner they start the sooner agreement will be reached and there will be no interruptions of traffic. Those who do not want interruptions should be for negotiations."

"We do not want to interrupt air traffic," he said.

"All we want is a new agreement on the air traffic. Those who oppose an agreement will be the disturbers of air traffic." He hinted that when a peace treaty is signed the Soviets will leave the four-power Berlin air safety centre and air traffic will be endangered.

Ulbricht demanded that West Berlin be made a free city as the Soviets propose.

The Soviet premier made the statement in reaffirming his position on Germany and Berlin.

He spoke to the Soviet people over radio and television, reporting on his Vienna talks with President Kennedy.

MEETING WORTHWHILE

Khrushchev has called for a peace conference of all the Second World War allies on reunifying Germany. In the meantime, he wants West Germany and Communist East Germany to negotiate a settlement, if they can, within six months. This would also include the future of Communist-surrounded West Berlin.

Khrushchev said his meeting with President Kennedy in Vienna was worthwhile.

In addition, it had to be held.

He repeated his demand for combining negotiations on a nuclear test ban with talks on general disarmament.

Khrushchev said the Vienna meeting "provided a good opportunity for a first personal contact and an exchange of opinion."

"I am sure that the Vienna meeting was worthwhile."

TRADE POSITION ANALYZED

One of the most important questions facing Canada today concerns the effect on our trade if Britain enters the European trading bloc. The likelihood of this vital development, and Ottawa's failure so far to cope with it, is analyzed on Page 4 today in the first of four articles by Bruce Hutchison.

BIRMINGHAM, Mich. (CP)—Only one player—Bob Goalby of Crystal River, Fla.—managed to equal par today among early finishers of the U.S. Open golf championship.

Body Found

The body of an elderly unidentified man was discovered floating in the water off Dallas Road between Cook and Douglas Streets today shortly after 1 p.m.

Police said the body was found by Rick Dale, 961 Easter Road. City detectives are investigating.

Pacifists Fail

GROTON, Conn. (UPI)—The Polaris missile-firing nuclear submarine Thomas A. Edison was launched today, and the navy and coast guard won a land and sea battle with pacifists who tried to reach the $100 million craft.

Navy frogmen apprehended at least three swimmers who set out from shore to break into the restricted launch area. They were hauled aboard a cutter.

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Pacific National Exhibition is reported to be prepared to offer Art Chapman the general manager's job of the Vancouver Canucks—which is news to Art Chapman. Chapman now is coach of the WHL team but is slated to leave in the fall for a job in California.

Never Critical Of Bank Policy

OTTAWA (CP)—Governor James E. Coyne of the Bank of Canada said today, in effect, that the government—not himself—has been restricting economic growth in Canada by lack of adequate policies.

Mr. Coyne, in a statement replying to the Finance Minister Fleming's Commons criticisms of him Wednesday, said Canada's economic troubles have not been in the field of monetary policy—the Bank of Canada's field.

"What has been lacking so far is adequate action in the field of fiscal policy to make a real contribution to economic recovery and the growth of the Canadian economy under Canadian ownership and control."

"In this respect Mr. Fleming revealed Wednesday the government now has been suddenly converted."

Meanwhile, Mr. Fleming rejected today an Opposition request that the government legislate to dismiss Mr. Coyne be introduced before Tuesday night's budget.

BID BY PEARSON

Opposition Leader Pearson made the request in the Commons, referring to Mr. Fleming's statement Wednesday that legislative action would be taken in view of Mr. Coyne's refusal to resign.

Mr. Fleming said he sees no reason why the legislation should precede the budget. He said the Opposition had been "screaming" for the budget to be brought down. Now it wanted a step that could have the effect of postponing the budget.

Mr. Pearson said the reply was "both irrelevant and offensive."

"It was not meant to be irrelevant," Mr. Fleming said pointedly.

Mr. Coyne issued his statement today in the form of a comment on Wednesday's report by the Senate committee on manpower.

But most of the statement was a strongly-worded reply to Mr. Fleming, who accused Mr. Coyne of "restrictionist" policies and said the 50-year-old man was "out of touch."

Coyne Affair One Of Major Moves

OTTAWA (CP)—Much of what lies ahead in Canadian politics will be dated from the hectic parliamentary events of Wednesday, June 14.

Here was the Commons spending almost an entire sitting day on political acrimony surrounding the government's plan to force by legislation the resignation of James E. Coyne, governor of the Bank of Canada.

Here, too, was Finance Minister Fleming's clear indication that the government is turning to expansionist economic policies—which he said is at the root of the rift between the Conservative administration and the bank's "restrictionist" governor—in a budget to be presented next Tuesday night.

Into this eventful skirmish, unannounced, came a Senate manpower committee report urging an overhaul of the Bank of Canada and closer integration of its policies with those of the finance department.

Meanwhile, the Liberal majority in the Senate carried out its threat and on a 37-to-21 vote deleted a key point in the government's "class or kind" tariff bill—arbitrary ministerial power to make certain decisions not subject to appeal.

There were indications in the Senate of possible non-partisan attempts to amend another major government bill—the one defining two types of murder and decreasing the death penalty for only premeditated slayings or those associated with crimes of violence.

In the Commons, there was another major announcement—one by Justice Minister Fulton that public hearings will be held into distribution and sales of pharmaceutical drugs and auto supplies.

The Senate's vote on the tariff bill amendment was followed by final approval of the amended bill. This action automatically sends the bill back to the Commons where the original version was previously passed by the huge Progressive Conservative majority.

The government measure was designed to provide stronger tariff protection for certain Canadian-manufactured goods, mainly machinery, where present law provides two tariff rates—a high duty for goods "of a class or kind made in Canada" and a low rate for others.

The government can either accept the Senate amendment—a move informed sources say is unlikely—or rip it out and send the original bill back to the Senate.

Should the Senate stick to its own version, the only way of settling such a dispute is through a so-called "free committee" with three members delegated by each house to negotiate a compromise. If that doesn't work, the bill could be washed out.

Cease-Fire Extended

PARIS (Reuters) — The French government today decided to extend its unilateral cease-fire in Algeria beyond the original one-month period due to have ended next Tuesday.

The decision was made at a cabinet meeting presided over by President de Gaulle. It came after France broke off peace talks with rebels Tuesday at Evian, France.

MARINE PLAN APPROVED

COMOX — Federal engineers have approved a marine basin and waterfront development plan to cost an estimated $350,000, and will recommend that it be included in estimates for 1962.

It calls for a rock breakwater, deep-water basin, six mooring floats, access roads and a fill of 300 feet wide along the waterfront.

The producer, Ivan Tors of Ziv United Artists, read to senators a letter in which the National Broadcasting System expressed "concern over the absence of sex" in seven TV productions he had sold the network.

He also told the senate juvenile delinquency subcommittee that officials of the Columbia Broadcasting Co. let it be known that injections of "youth and crime" might improve the ratings of "The Aquanauts," which Tors described as a wholesome hour-long program of underwater feats.

Tors said he lost interest in "The Aquanauts" because CBS had reversed its "good intentions." The program's name later was changed to "Malibu Run" under a new producer.

After this incident, Tors testified, he insisted on a clause in his contract permitting him to pull out of productions that "adversely influence youth."

Tors also told of a run-in with NBC over the content of "Man and the Challenge," a program relating how a doctor prepares people for survival in situations such as space flight.

After turning out six episodes, Tors testified, an advertising agency executive told him the "price" of obtaining prime network viewing time was "a great deal of sex and violence in the show."

NEW YORK (AP) — Merchant shipping companies today asked Labor Secretary Goldberg to step into a union contract dispute which threatens a strike on all three American coasts at midnight.

TV Networks Urge Violence, Sex on Shows

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Hollywood producer testified today that officials of two television networks instructed him to spice up his shows with more violence and sex.

The producer, Ivan Tors of Ziv United Artists, read to senators a letter in which the National Broadcasting System expressed "concern over the absence of sex" in seven TV productions he had sold the network.

He also told the senate juvenile delinquency subcommittee that officials of the Columbia Broadcasting Co. let it be known that injections of "youth and crime" might improve the ratings of "The Aquanauts," which Tors described as a wholesome hour-long program of underwater feats.

New Offer By Castro On Tractors

(Times News Service)
 HAVANA — Four American farm experts left for Miami today with Premier Fidel Castro's new proposal for exchanging 1,173 captured Cuban invaders for some $28,000,000 worth of tractors.

Castro's new approach to the tractors-for-prisoners deal could bring him as many as 10,000 light farm tractors.

MADE NO COMMITMENTS
 The American group made no commitments and intended to lay the request before the tractors-for-freedom committee headed by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Castro placed increasing emphasis on his alternate plan to exchange captive invaders for "political prisoners" of the United States, Spain, Guatemala and Nicaragua.

Meanwhile, Kennedy administration officials were said in Washington today to believe the tractors-for-prisoners exchange — whether it succeeds or fails — may save the lives of 1,200 Cuban expatriates captured in the April invasion.

Nobody in Washington feels safe in predicting what action Prime Minister Fidel Castro will take next. But high government officials said today the belief here is that Castro cannot afford now to wheel out his firing squads.

Canadian Publishers Hail Report

OTTAWA (UPI) — Canada's magazine industry today welcomed the O'Leary royal commission report as an "excellent" document whose recommendations should permit expansion of this country's periodical press.

"This report should create a climate in which new Canadian magazines can be started," Maclean-Hunter Publishing Company president Floyd S. Chalmers told newsmen. "It's an excellent report."

"The commission has done a wonderful job," added C. J. Laurin, president of the Canadian Periodical Press Association. "I'd say the chances of the government implementing these recommendations are excellent."

Home Scorns Troika Plan

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI) — British Foreign Secretary Lord Home today called Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's troika scheme for dividing control of world organizations "the most sterile and bankrupt doctrine that has ever been advanced."

Addressing the Harvard University Alumni Association, Home said Khrushchev's proposal, if accepted, would mean "the end of the United Nations as we know it today."

Four Generals Fired

BONN, West Germany (Reuters) — Radio Free Europe said Wednesday night that, unconfirmed reports indicated at least four Bulgarian generals were dismissed following an abortive revolt aimed at removing the leadership of the Bulgarian Communist party.

Addressing the Harvard University Alumni Association, Home said Khrushchev's proposal, if accepted, would mean "the end of the United Nations as we know it today."
